

Attus Primus. Scana Prima.

Enter Camillo and Archidamus.

Arch.

oto F you shall chance (Camilo) to visit Bohemia, on the like occasion whereon my services are now on-foot, you shall sec (as I have faid) great difference betwist our Bohemia, and your Sicilia.

Cam. I thinke, this comming Summer, the King of Sicilia meanes to pay Buhemia the Visitation, which hee iustly owes hun.

Arch. Wherein our Entertainment shall shame vs: we will be just fied in our Loues: for indeed---

Cam. 'Befeech you ---

Arch. Verely I speake it in the freedome of my knowledge: we cannot with such magnificence --- in so rare--I know not what to say --- Wee will give you sleepie Drinkes, that your Sences (vn-intelligent of our infufficience) may, though they cannot prayle vs, as little accuse vs.

Cam. You pay a great deale to deare, for what's giuen freely.

Arch. Beleeve me, I speake as my vnderstanding infructs me, and as mine honeflie puts it to viterance.

Cam. Sicilia cannot shew himselfe ouer-kind to Bohemis: They were trayn'd together in their Child-hoods; and there rooted betwixt them then such an affection, which cannot chuse but braunch now. Since their more mature Dignities, and Royall Necessities, made seperation of their Societie, their Encounters (though not Personall) hath been Royally attornyed with enter-change of Gifts, Letters, louing Embaffies, that they have feem'd to be together, though absent: shooke hands, as ouer a Vast; and embrac'd as it were from the ends of opposed Winds. The Heavens continue their Loues.

Arch. I thinke there is not in the World, either Malice or Matter, to alter it. You have an vnspeakable comfort of your young Prince Mamilieu: it is a Gentleman of the greatest Promise, that euer came into my Note.

Cam. I very well agree with you, in the hopes of him: it is a gallant Child; one, that (indeed) Phylicks the Subiect, makes old hearts fresh: they that went on Crutches ere he was borne, defire yet their life, to fee him a Man.

Arch. Would they else be content to die?

Cam. Yes; if there were no other excuse, why they should

Arch. if the King had no Sonne, they would defire to live on Crurches ell he had one, Exeunt.

Scœna Secunda.

Enter Leontes, Hermione, Mamillim, Polixenes, Camillo. Pol. Nine Changes of the Watry-Starre hath been.

The Shepheards Note fince we have left our Throne Without a Burthen: Time as long againe Would be fill'd vp(my Brother) with our Thanks, And yet we should, for perpetuitie, Goe hence in debt: And therefore, like a Cypher (Yet standing in rich place) I multiply With one we thanke you, many thousands moe, That goe before it.

Leo. Scay your Thanks a while, And pay them when you part.

Pol. Sir, that's to morrow: I am question d by my feares, of what may chance, Or breed upon our ablence, that may blow No fneaping Winds at home, to make vs fay, This is put forth too truly: befides, I have flay'd To tyre your Royaltie.

Leo. We are tougher (Brother)

Then you can put vs to't.

Pol. No longer stav.

Leo. One Seue'night longer.

Fol. Very looth, to morrow.

Leo. Wee'le part the time betweene's then: and in that ile no gaine-faying.

Pol. Presse me not ('bescech you) so: There is no Tongue that moues; none, none i'th' World So foone as yours, could win me: fo it should now, Were there necessitie in your request, although Twere needfull I deny'd it. My Affaires Doe euen drag me home-ward: which to hinder, Were (in your Love) a Whip tome; my stay, To you a Charge, and Trouble: to saue both, Farewell (our Brother.)

Les. Tongue-ty'd our Queene? speake you. Her. I had thought (Sir) to have held my peace, vntill You had drawne Oathes from him, not to stay: you(Sir) Charge him too coldly. Tell him, you are sure All in Bohemia's well : this farisfaction, The by-gone-day proclaym'd, say this to him, He's bear from his best ward.

Lee. Well faid, Hermione.

Her. To tell, he longs to see his Sonne, were frong: But let him fay so then, and let him goe But let him sweare so, and he shall not stay, Wee'l thwack him hence with Distaffes. Yet of your Royall presence, He aduenture The borrow of a Weeke. When at Bobenia You take my Lord, He give him my Commission, To let him there a Moneth, behind the Gest Prefix'd for's parting: yet (good-deed) Leontes, I loue thee not a larre o'th' Clock, behind

What

What Lady she her Lord. You'le flay?

Pol. No, Madame.

Her. Nay, but you will?

Pol. I may not verely.

Her. Verely?

You put me off with limber Vowes: but I,
Though you would feek t'vniphere the Stars with Oaths,
Should yet fay, Sir, no going: Verely
You shall not goe; a Ladyes Verely' is
As potent as a Lords. Will you goe yet?
Force me to keepe you as a Prisoner,
Not like a Guest: so you shall pay your Fees
When you depart, and saue your Thanks. How say you?
My Prisoner? or my Guest? by your dread Verely,
One of them you shall be.

Pol. Your Guest then, Madame:
To be your Prisoner, should import offending;
Which is for me, lesse easie to commit,

Then you to punish.

Her. Not your Gaoler then,
But your kind Hostesse. Come, He question you
Of my Lords Tricks, and yours, when you were Boyes:
You were pretty Lordings then ?

Pol. We were (faire Queene)
Two Lads, that thought these was no more behind,
But such a day to morrow, as to day,
And to be Boy eternall.

Her. Was not my Lord The verver Wag o'th' two?

Pol. We were as twyn'd Lambs, that d'd frisk i'th' Sun, And bleat the one at th'other: what we chang'd, Was Innocence, for Innocence: we knew not The Doctrine of ill-doing, nor dream'd That any did: Had we purfu'd that life, And our weake Spirits ne're been higher rear'd With stronger blood, we should have answer'd Heaven Boldly, not guilty; the Imposition clear'd, Hereditarie ours.

Her. By this we gather You have tript fince.

Pol. O my most facred Lady, Temptations have fince then been borne to's: for In those vnsledg'd dayes, was my Wise a Girle; Your precious felse had then not cross'd the eyes Of my young Play-fellow.

Her. Grace to boot:
Of this make no conclusion, least you say
Your Queene and I are Deuils: yet goe on,
Th'offences we have made you doe, wee'le answere,
If you first sinn'd with vs: and that with vs
You did continue fault; and that you slipt not
With any, but with vs.

Lee. Is he woon yet?

Her. Hee'le flay (my Lord.)

Lee. At my request he would not:

Hermione (my dearest) thou never spoak'st To better purpose.

To better purpose, Her. Neuer?

Les. Neuer, but once.

Her. What? have I twice faid well? when was't before? I prethee tell me: cram's with prayle, and make's As fat as tame things: One good deed, dying tongueleffe, Slaughters a thousand, wayting vpon that.
Our prayles are our Wages. You may ride's With one soft Kisse a thousand Furlongs, ere With Spur we heat an Acre. But to th' Goale:

My last good deed, was to entreat his stay.

What was my first; it has an elder Sister,

Or I mistake you: O, would her Name were Grace.

But once before I spoke to th' purpose? when?

Nay, let me haue't: I long.

Lee. Why, that was when
Three crabbed Moneths had fowr'd themselues to death,
Ere I could make thee open thy white Hand:
A clap thy selfe my Loue; then didst thou veter,
I am yours for ever.

Her, 'Tis Grace indeed.

Why lo-you now; I have spoke to th' purpose twice: The one, for ever earn'd a Royall Husband; Th'other, for some while a Friend.

Les. Too hot, too hot:
To mingle friendship farre, is mingling bloods.
I have Tremer Cerdu on me: my heart daunces,
But not for ioy; not ioy. This Entertainment
May a free face put on: derive a Libertie
From Heartinesse, from Bountie, fertile Bosome,
And well become the Agent: 't may; I graunt:
But to be padling Palmes, and pinching Fingers,
As now they are, and making prachis'd Siniles
As in a Looking-Glasse; and then to sigh, as 'twere
The Mort o'th' Deere: oh, that is entertainment
My Bosome likes not, nor my Browes. Mamilland,
Art thou my Boy?

Mam. I, my good Lord.

Leo. l'fecks :

Why that's my Bawcock; what?has't smutch'd thy Nosel They say it is a Coppy out of mine. Come Captaine, We must be neat; not neat, but cleanly, Captaine: And yet the Steere, the Heyeser, and the Calse, Are all call'd Neat. Still Virginalling Vpon his Palme? How now (you wanton Calse) Art theu my Calse?

Mam. Yes, if you will (my Lord.) Lee. Thou want it a rough path, & the shoots that I have To be full, like me: yet they fay we are Almost as like as Egges; Women say so, (That will say any thing.) But were they fille As o're-dy'd Blacks, as Wind, as Waters; false As Dice are to be wish'd, by one that fixes No borne twist his and mine; yet were it true, To fay this Boy were like me. Come(Sir Page) Looke on me with your Welkin eye: sweet Villaine, Most dear'st, my Collop: Can thy Dam, may't be Affection? thy Intention stabs the Center. Thou do'st make possible things not so held, Communicat's with Dreames (how can this be?) With what's vnreall: thou coactine art, And fellow'st nothing. Then 'tis very credent, Thou may'st co-ioyne with something, and thou do'ft. (And that beyond Commission) and I find it, And that to the infection of my Braines, And hardning of my Browes.)

Pol. What meanes Sicilia?

Her. He fomething feemes unfetled.

Pol. How?my Lord?

Lee. What cheere? how is't with you, best Brother?

Her. You look as if you held a Brow of much distraction:

Are you mou'd (my Lord?)

Leo. No, in good earnest.

How sometimes Nature will betray it's folly?

It's tendernesse? and make it selfe a Passime

To harder bosomes? Looking on the Lynes

Of

Of my Boyes face, me thoughts I did requoyle Twentie three yeeres, and faw my felfe vn-breech'd, In my greene Veluet Coat; my Dagger muzzel d, Leaft it should bice it's Master, and so proue (As Ornaments oft do's) too dangerous: How like (me thought) I then was to this Kernell, This Squash, this Gentleman. Mine honest Friend, Will you take Egges for Money?

Mam. No (my Lord) He fight.

Leo. You will: why happy man be's dole My Brother Are you to fond of your young Prince, 38 we

Doe iceme to be of ours? Pol. if at home (Sir)

He's all my Exercise, my Mirth, my Matter; Now my Iworne Friend, and then mine Enemy; My Paralite my Souldier: Statef-man; all: He makes a Julyes day, short as Decen ber, And with his varying child-neffe, cures in the Thoughts, that would thick my blood.

Leo. So flands this Squire Officid with me: We two will walke (my Lord) And leave you to your graver steps. Hermiene, How thou lou'll vs, thew mour Brothers welcome; Let what is deare in Sicily, be cheape: Next to thy felte, and my young Rouer, he's Apparant to my heart, Her. If you would feeke vs,

We are yours i'th Garden: shall's attend you there? Leo. To your owne bents dispose you you'le be found, Be you beneath the Sky: I am angling now, (Though you perceive me not how I give Lyne)

Goe too, goe too. How she holds up the Nebe the Byll to him? And armes her with the boldnesse of a Wite To her allowing Husband. Gone already, Ynch-thick, knee-deepe; ore head and eares a fork'd one. Goe play (Boy) play: thy Mother playes, and I Play too; but to dilgrac'd a part, whose issue Will hille me to my Graue: Contempt and Clainer Will be my Kiiell. Goe play (Boy) play, there have been (Or I am much decesu'd) Cuckolds ere now, And many a man there is (even at this present, Now, while I speake this) holds his Wife by th'Arme, That little thinkes she ha's been fluye'd in's absence, And his Pond filh'd by his next Neighbor (by Sir Smile, his Neighbor:) nay, there's comfort in t, Whiles other men haue Gates, and those Gates open'd (As mine) against their will. Should all despaire That have revolted Wives, the tenth of Mankind Would hang themselves. Physick for't, there's none: It is a bawdy Planet, that will strike Where 'tis predominant; and 'tis powrefull: thinke it: From Eaft, Wett, North, and South, be it concluded, No Barricede for a Belly. Know't, It will let in and out the Enemy, With bag and baggage a many thousand on's Haue the Disease, and feele't not. How now Boy ?

Mam. I am like you say. Leo. Why, that's some comfort.

What? Camillo there? Cam. 1, my good Lord.

Leo. Goe play (Mamillem) thou'rt an honest man: Camello, this great Sir will yet flay longer.

Cam. You had much adoe to make his Anchor hold, When you cast out, it still came home.

Lee. Didst note it?

Cam. He would not flay at your Petitions, made His Buinesse more material!.

Leo. Didft perceive it? They're here with me already; whilp'ring, rounding: Sicilia is a fo-forth: 'cis farre gone, When I shall gust it last. How cam't (Camello) That he did flay?

Cam. At the good Queenes entreatie.

Leo. At the Quecnes be't: Good should be pertinent, But fo it is, it is not. Was this taken By any understanding Pace but thine? For thy Conceit is loaking, will draw in More then the common Blocks. Not noted, is't, But of the finer Natures? by some Severalls Of Head-prece extraordinarie? Lower Meffes Perchance are to this Businesse purblind? say.

Cam. Busaelle, my Lord? I thinke molt understand Molemus stayes here longer.

Leo Ha?

Cam. Stayeshere longer.

Leo. 1, but why?

Cam. To fatishe your Highnesse, and the Entreaties Of our most gracious Mastrelle.

Leo. Satisfie?

Th'entreaties of your Mistreste? Satisfie? Let that suffice. I have trusted thee (Camillo) With all the neerest things to my heart, as well My Chamber-Councels, wherein (Prieft-like) thou Halt cleans'd my Bosoine: I, from thee departed Thy Penitent reformed: but we have been Deceiu'd in thy Integritie, decein'd In that which teemes fo.

Cam. Be it forbid (my bord.)

Lee. To bide vpon't: thou art not honelt: or If thou inclin's that way, thou are a Coward, Which hoxes honestie behind, restrayning From Course required: or eise thou must be counted A Secuant, grafted in my ferious Truft, And therein negligent: or elie a Foole, That seeft a Game play'd home, the rich Stake drawne, And tak'st it all for reast.

Cam. My gracious Lord, I may be negligent foolish, and fearefull, In cuery one of these, no man is free, But that his negligence, his folly, feare, Among the infinite doings of the World, Sometime puts forth in your affaires (my Lord.) If euer I were wilfull-negligent, It was my folig: if industriously I play'd the Foole, it was my negligence, Not weighing well the end: if euer fearefull To doe a thing, where I the iffue doubted, Whereof the execution did cry out Against the non-performance, twas a feate Which oft infects the wifest: these (my Lord) Are such allow'd Infirmines, that honestie Is never free of. But beseech your Grace Be plainer with me, let me know my Trespas By it's owne vilage; if I then deny it, Tis none of mine.

Leo. Ha'not you seene Camillo? (But that's past doubt: you have, or your eye-giasse Is thicker then a Cuckolds Horne) or heard? (For to a Vision so apparant, Rumor Cannot be mute) or thought? (for Cogitation Resides not in that man, that do's not thinke)

My

My Wife is flipperie? If thou wilt confesse, Or else be impudently negative, To have nor Eyes, nor Eares, nor Thought, then fay My Wife's a Holy-Horse, deserues a Name As ranke as any Flax-Wench, that puts to Before her troth-plight: fay't, and justify't.

Cam. I would not be a ftander-by, to heare My Soueraigne Mistresse clouded so, without My present vengeance taken: 'Threw my heart, You neuer spoke what did become you lesse Then this; which to reiterate, were fin As deepe as that, though true.

Lee. Is whifpering nothing?
Is leaning Cheeke to Cheeke? is meating Nofes? Kiffing with in-fide Lip? Stopping the Cariere Of Laughter, with a figh? (a Note infallible Of breaking Honestie) horsing foot on foot? Skulking in corners? withing Clocks more fwift? Houres, Minutes? Noone, Mid-night? and all Eyes Blind with the Pin and Web, but theirs; theirs onely, That would unfeene be wicked? Is this nothing? Why then the World, and all that's in't, is nothing, The covering Skie is nothing, Bohemia nothing, My Wife is nothing, nor Nothing have thele Nothings, If this be nothing.

Cam. Good my Lord, be cur'd Of this diseas'd Opinion, and betimes, For 'tis most dangerous,

Les. Say it be, 'tis true. Cam. No no my Lord.

Leo. It is: youlye, youlye: I fay thou lyelt Camillo, and I hate thee, Pronounce thre a greffe Lowt, a mindleffe Slaue, Or else a houering Temporizer, that Canst with thine eyes at once see good and euill, Inclining to them both: were my Wines Liner Infected (as her life) the would not live The running of one Glasse.

Cam. Who do's infect her?

Leo. Why he that weares her like her Medull, hanging About his neck (Behemia) who, if I Had Servants true about me, that bare eyes To fee alske inine Honor, as their Profits, (Then owne particular Thrifts) they would doe that Which should viidoe more doing: I, and thou His Cup-heater, whom I from meaner forme Haue Bench'd, and rear'd to Worship, who may it see Plainely, as Heauen sees Earth, and Earth sees Heauen, How I om gall'd, might'st be-spice a Cup, I'o giue mine Enemy a lasting Winke: Which Draught to me, were cordiall.

Cam. Sir (my Lord) I could doe this, and that with no rash Potion, But with a lingring Dram, that should not worke Muliciously, like Poylon: Bus I cannot Beleeue this Crack to be in my dread Mistrelle (So foueraignely being Honorable.)

I have lou'd thee,

Les Make that thy question, and goe rot: Do'ft thinke I am fo muddy, fo vuletled, To appoint my felfe in this vexation? Sully the puritie and whitenesse of my Sheetes (Which to preferue, is Sleeper which being spotted, is Goades, Thornes Nettles, Tayles of Walpes) Give feandall to the blood o'ch' Prince, my Sonne, (Who I doe thinke is mine, and love as mine)

Without ripe mouing to't? Would I doe this ? Could man fo blench?

Cam. I must beleeue you(Sir)
I doe, and will fetch off Bobemia for't: Provided, that when hee's remou'd, your Highnesse Will take againe your Queene, as yours at first, Euen for your Sonnes sake, and thereby for sealing The Injurie of Tongues, in Courts and Kingdomes Knowne, and ally'd to yours.

Leo. Thou do'ft aduise me, Euen so as I mine owne course haue set downe: Ile giue no blemish to her Honor, none.

Cam. My Lord, Goe then; and with a countenance as cleare As Friendship weares as Feasts, keepe with Bobenia And with your Queene: 1 sm his Cup-bearer, If from me he have wholesome Beveridge, Account me not your Seruant.

Leo. This is all: Do't, and thou hast the one halfe of my heart; Do't not, thou splitt'st thine owne.

Cam. Ile do't, my Lord. Leo. I wil seeme friendly, as thou hast advis d me. Exis

Cam. O miserable Lady. But for me, What case stand I in? I must be the poysoner Of good Polixenes, and my ground to do't, Is the obedience to a Master; one, Who in Rebellion with himselfe, will haue All that are his, so too. To doe this deed, Promotion followes: If I could find example Of thousand's that had struck anounted Kings, And flourish'd after, Il'd not do't : But since Nor Braffe, nor Stone, nor Parchment beares not one, Let Villanie it selfe forswear't. I must Forsake the Court: to do't, or no, is certaine To me a breake-neck. Happy Starre raigne now, Enter Polixenes, Here comes Bokenna.

Pol. This is strange: Methinkes My fauor here begins to warpe; Not speake? Good day Camillo.

Cam. Hayle most Royall Sir. Pol. What is the Newos i'th' Court? Cam. Nonerare (my Lord.)

Pol. The King hath on him fuch a countenance, As he had loft fome Province, and a Region Lou'd, as he loues himselse: even now I met him With customarie complement, when hee Wafting his eyes to th' contrary, and falling A Lippe of much concempt, speedes from me, and So leaves me, to confider what is breeding, That changes thus his Manners.

Cam. I dare not know (my Lord.) Pol. How, dare not? doe not? doe you know, and dare not? Be intelligent to me, tis thereabouts: For to your selfe, what you doe know, you must, And cannot fay, you dare not. Good Camelle, Your chang'd complexions are to me a Mirror. Which shewes me mine chang'd too: for I must be

A partie in this alteration, finding My selfe thus alter'd with't.

Cam. There is a ficknesse Which puts some of vs in diffemper, but I cannot name the Discase, and it is caught Of you, that yet are well.

Pol. How caught of me? Make me not fighted like the Bafilifque.

I hatte

I have look'd on thousands, who have sped the better By my regard, but kill'd pone so: Camillo, As you are certainely a Gentleman, thereto Clerke-like experienc'd, which no lesse adornes Our Gentry, then our Parents Noble Names, In whose successe we are gentle: I beseech you,
If you know ought which do's behoue my knowledge; Thereof to be inform'd, imprison't not In ignorant concealement.

Cam. I may not answere.

Pol. A Sicknesse caught of me, and yet I well? I must be answer'd. Do'st thou heare Cansillo, I conjure thee, by all the parts of man, Which Honor do's acknowledge, whereof the least Is not this Suit of mine, that thou declare What incidencie thou do'ft ghesse of harme Is creeping toward me; how farre off, how neere, Which way to be preuented, if to be: It not, how best to beare it.

Cam. Sir,I will tell you, Since I am charg'd in Honor, and by him That I thinke Honorable: therefore marke my counsaile, Which must be eu'n as swiftly followed, as I meane to veter it; or both your selfe, and me, Cry loft, and to good night.

Pel. On, good Camello.

Cam. I am appointed him to murther you.

Pol. By whom, Camillo? Cam. By the King.

Pol. For what?

Cam. He thinkes, nay with all confidence he sweares, As he had feen't, or beene an Inffrument

To vice you to't, that you have toucht his Queene Forbiddenly.

Pol. Oh then, my best blood turne To an infected Gelly, and my Name Be yoak'd with his, that did betray the Best: Turne then my freshest Reputation to A fauour, that may strike the dollest Nosthrill Where I arrive, and my approch be shun'd, Nay hated too, worte then the great'st Infection That ere was heard, or read.

Cam. Sweare his thought ouer By each particular Starre in Heaven, and By all their Influences; you may as well Forbid the Sea for to obey the Moone, As (or by Oath) remoue, or (Counsaile) shake The Fabrick of his Folly, whose foundation Is pyl'd vpon his Faith, and will continue The standing of his Body.

Pol. How should this grow?

Cam. I know not: but I am sure 'tis safer to Auoid what's growne, then question how 'tis borne. If therefore you dare trust my honestie, That lyes enclosed in this Trunke, which you Shall beare along impawnd,away to Night, Your Followers I will whisper to the Businesse, And will by twoes, and threes, at several Posternes, Cleare them o'th' Citie: For my selfe, He put My fortunes to your feruice (which are here By this discouerie lost.) Be not uncertaine, For by the honor of my Parents, I Haue verred Truth: which if you leeke to proue, I dare not stand by a nor shall you be safer, Then one condemnd by the Kings owne mouth: Thereon his Execution (worne.

Pol. I doe beleeve thee: I saw his heart in's sace. Give me thy hand, Be Pilot to me, and thy places shall Still neighbour mine. My Ships are ready, and My people did expect my hence departure Two dayes agoe. This lealouse Is for a precious Creature: as shee's rare, Must it be great; and, as his Person's mightie, Must it be violent: and, as he do's conceiue, He is difhonor'd by a man, which cuer Profess'd to him: why his Revenges must In that be made more bitter. Feare ore-shades me: Good Expedition be my friend, and comfore The gracious Queene, part of his Theame; but nothing Of his ill-ta'ne lutpition. Come Camillo, I will respect thee as a Father, if Thou bear'st my life off, hence : Let vsauoid. Cam. It is in mine authoritie to command

The Keyes of all the Polternes: Please your Highnesse To take the vrgent houre. Come Sir, 2 way.

Actus Secundus. Scena Prima.

Enter Hermione, Manullina Ladies: Leontes. Antigoniu Lords.

Her Take the Boy to you: he to troubles me,

Tis paft enduring.

Lady. Come (my gracious Lord)

Shall I be your play-tellow?

Mam. No, ile none of you. Ladr. Why (my lweet Lord?)

Mam. You le kille me hard, and speake to me, as if I were a Baby full. I lone you better.

2. Lady. And why fo(iny Lord?) Mam. Not for because

Your Browes ere blacker (yet black-browes they fay Become some Women best, so that there be not Too much haire there, but in a Cemicircle,

Or a halfe-Moone, made with a Pen.)

2. Lady, Who taught 'this?

Mam. I learn'd it out of Womens faces: pray now,

What colour are your eye-browes?

Lady. Blew(my Lord.)

Mam. Nay, that's a mock: I have seene a Ladies Nose That ha's beene blew, but not her eye-browes.

Lady. Harke ye,

The Queene (your Mother) rounds apace: we shall Present our seruices to a fine new Prince

One of these dayes, and then youl'd wanton with vs,

If we would have you.

2. Lady. She is spread of late

Into a goodly Bulke (good time encounter her.)

Her. What wildome ftirs among ft you? Come Sir, new I am for you againe: 'Pray you fit by vs,

And tell's a Tale.

Mam. Merry, or sad, shal't be ?

Her. As merry as you will.

Mam. A sad Tale's best for Winter:

I have one of Sprights, and Goblins.

Her. Let's haueithat (good Sir.)

Come-on, sit downe, come-on, and doe your best,

To fright me with your Sprights: you're powrefull at it.

A 2 3

Mam. There

Mam. There was a man.

Her. Nay, come fit downe: then on.
Mam. Dwelt by a Church-yard: I will tell it softly, Yond Crickets shall not heare it.

Her. Come on then, and giu'e me in mine eare. Leon. Was hee met there? his Fraine? Camillo with Lord. Behind the tuft of Pines I met them, neuer Saw I inen scowre so on their way: I eyed them Euen to their Ships.

Leo. How bleft am I In my iust Centure? in my true Opinion? Alack, for leffer knowledge, how accurs'd, In being so blest? There may be in the Cup A Spider steep'd, and one may drinke; depart And yet partake no venome. (for his knowledge Is not infected) but if one present Th'abhor'd Ingredient to his eye, make knowne How he hath drunke, he cracks his gorge, his sides With violent Hefes: I have drunke, and seene the Spider. Camillo was his helpe in this, his Pandar: There is a Plot against my Life, my Crowne; All's true that is missrusted: that falle Villaine, Whom I employ'd, was pre-employ'd by him: He ha's discouer'd my Designe, and I Remaine a pinch'd Thing; yea, a very Trick For them to play at will. how came the Posternes So easily open ?

Lord. By his great authority, Which often hath no lesse preuail d, then so,

On your command.

Lee. I know't too well. Gue me the Poy, I am glad you did not nurse him: Though he do's beare forme fignes of me, yet you Haue too much blood in him.

Her. What is this? Sport?

Leo. Beare the Boy hence, he shall not come about her, Away with him, and let her sport her selfe With that shee's big-with, for 'cis Polixenes Ha's made thee swell thus.

Her. But Il'd say he had not; And He be sworne you would beleeve my saying, How e're you leane to th' Nay-ward.

Leo. You (my Lords)

Looke on her, marke her well be but about To say she is a goodly Lady, and The justice of your hearts will thereto adde 'Tis pirty shee's not honest. Honorable ; Prayle her but for this her without-dore-Forme, (Which on my faith deserues high speech) and straight The Shong, the Hum, or Ha, (these Petty-brands That Calumnie doth vse; Oh, I am out, That Mercy do's, for Calumnie will seare Vertue it felfe) these Shrugs, these Hum's, and Ha's, When you have faid thee's goodly, come betweene, Ere you can say shee's honest: But be't knowne (From him that ha's most cause to grieve it should be) Shee's an Adultresse.

Her. Should a Villaine say so, (The most replenish'd Villaine in the World) He were as much more Villaine . you (my Lord) Doe but mistäke.

Leo. You have mistooke (my Lady) Polimenes for Leontes: O thou Thing, (Which He not call a Creature of thy place, Leaf a'arbarisme (making me the precedent) Should a like Language vie to all degrees, And mannerly distinguishment leave out, Betwixt the Prince and Begger:) I haue faid Shee's an Adultresse, I have said with whom: More; shee's a Traytor, and Camille is A Federarie with her, and one that knowes Wh.: The should shame to know her selfe, But with her most vild Principall: that shee's A Bed-swaruer, euen as bad as those That Vulgars give bold'st Titles; I, and privy To this their late escape.

Her. No (by my life) Priuy to none of this: how will this grieue you, When you shall come to clearer knowledge, that You thus have published me? Gencle my Lord, You scarce can right me throughly, then, to say

You did mistake

Lee. No: if I mistake In those Foundations which I build vpon, The Centre is not bigge enough to beare A Schoole-Boyes Top. Away with her, to Prison: He who shall speake for her, is a sarre off guiltie, But that he speakes.

Her. There's some ill Planet raignes: I must be parient, till the Heavens looke With an aspect more sauorable. Good my Lords, 1 am not prone to weeping (as our Sex Commonly are) the want of which vaine dew Perchance shall dry your pitties: but I have That honorable Gricle lodg'd here, which burnes Worle then Teares drowne; befeech you all (my Lords) With thoughts so qualified, a. your Charities Shall best instruct you, ne. in eine, and to The Kings will be perform d.

Leo. Shall I be Leard? Her. Who is't that goes with mer behach your Highner My Women may be with a restor you fee My plight requires it. Doe not weepe (good Fooles) There is no cause: When you shall know your Mistris Ha's deferred Prison, then abound in Teares, As I come out; this Action I now goe on, Is for my better grace. Adven (my Lora) I never with'd to fee you forry, now

I trust I shall : my Women come, you have seave. Leo. Goe, doe our bidding : hence.

Lord. Beicech your Highnesse call the Queene againe. Antig Be certaine what you do (Sir) least your lustice Proue violence, in the which three great ones lafter, Your Sel'e, your Queene, your Sonne.

Lord. For her (my Lord) I dare my life lay downe, and will do't (Sir) Please you t'accept it, that the Queene is spotlesse I'th' eyes of Heanen, and to you (I meane In this, which you accuse her.)

Antig. If it proue Shee's otherwise, lle keepe my Stables where I lodge my Wife, He goe in couples with her: Then when I feele, and fee her, no farther trust her. For every ynch of Woman in the World, I, every dram of Womans slesh is salse, If the be.

Leo. Hold your peaces. Lord. Good my Lord.

Aning. It is for you we speake, not for our selues: You are abus d, and by some putter on, That will be damn'd for't: would I knew the Villaine,

I would

I would Land-damne him: be she honor-slaw'd,
I have three daughters: the eldest is eleven;
The second, and the third, nine: and some five:
If this prove true, they'l pay for't. By mine Honor
Ile gell'd em all: sourceene they shall not see
To bring falle generations: they are co-heyres,
And I had rather glib my selfe, then they Should not produce faire issue.

Leo. Ceafe, no more:
You fmell this bufineffe with a fence as cold
As is a dead-mans note: but I do fee't, and feel't,
As you feele doing thus: and fee withall
The Instruments that feele.

Aning. If it be so,
We needeno grane to burie honesty,
There's not a grame of it, the face to sweeten
Of the whole dungy-earth.

Leo. What? lacke I credit?

Lord. I had rather you did lacke then I (my Lord) Vpon this ground and more it would acreent me To have her Honor true, then your suspicion Beblam'd for those you might.

Leo. Why what neede we
Commune with you of this? but rather follow
Our forcefull infligation? Our prerogative
Cals not your Counfailes, but our rathrall goodnesse
Imparts this: which, it you, or stupified,
Or feeming so, in skill, cannot, or will not
Rellish a truth, like vs: miorme your selves,
We neede no more of your advice: the matter,
The losse, the game, the ord ring on't,
Is all properly ours.

Antig. And I wish (my Liege)
You had onely in your filent judgement tride it,
Without more overture.

Leo, How could that be? Either thou art most ignorant by age, Or thou wer't borne a fivoie : Camillo's flight Added to their Familiarity (Which was as groffe, as cuer touch'd conie Sture, That lack'd fight onely, nought for approbation But onely freing, all other circumstances Made vp to'th deed) doth pufh- on this proceeding. Yet, for a greater confirmation (For in an Acte of this importance, twere Most pitteous to be wilde) I have disputched in post, To facted Dulphos, to Appollo's Temple, Cleomines and Dion, whom you know Of fluff d-fufficiency: Now, from the Oracle They will bring all, whose spirituall counsaile had Shall stop, or spurre me. Haue I done well?

Lord. Well done (my Lord.)

Leo. Though I am satisfide, and neede no more Then what I know, yet shall the Oracle Gue rest to th'mindes of others; such as he Whose ignorant credulitie, will not Come up to th'truth. So have we thought it good From our free person, she should be confinde, Least that the treachery of the two; sled hence, Be lest her to performe. Come sollow us, We are to speake in publique: for this businessed Will raise us all.

Antig. To laughter, as I take it, If the good truth, were knowne.

Exter Pauls 12, a Gentlem 18. Gaoler, Emilia.

Paul The Keeper of the prison, call to him:

Let him have knowledge who sam. Good Lady,

No Court in Europe is too good for thee,

What dost thou then in prison? Now good Sir,

You know me, do you not?

Gao For a worthy Lady, And one, who much I honour.

Pau. Pray you then, Conductinie to the Queene. Guo. I may not (Madam)

To the contrary I have expresse commandment,

Pau. Here's 1-do, to locke up honesty & honour from The accesse of gentle visitors. L'tlawfull pray you. To tee her Women? Any of them? Emilia?

G.19. So please you (Madam) To put a-part these your attendants, I Shall bring Emilia forth.

Pau. Apray now call ner: With-draw your felies. Gao. And Madam,

I muit be present at your Conference.

Pan. Well: be'c so: prethec. Herre's such a-coe, to make no staine, a staine, As gaties colouring. Deare Gentlewoman, How fares our gracious Lady?

Emil. As well as one fo great, and fo forlorne My held together: On her frights, and greefes (Winconneuer tender Lady heth borne greater). She is, foriething before her time, definer d.

Pan Aboy?

End. A doughter, and a goodly babe, Lutto, and like to meet the Queene receives Much comfort mit: Sayes, my poore prisoner, Lam moocant is you,

Pau. I date be fworte:
Their dangerous, valafe Lunes i'th'King, beforew them:
He must be told on't, and he shast: the office
Becomes a woman best. He take't vpon me,
If I proue hony-mouth'd, let my tongue blister.
And never to my red-look'd Anger bee
The Trumpet any more: pray you (Emilia)
Commend my best obedience to the Queene,
If she dares trust me with her luttle babe,
I'le shew't the King and vadertake to bee
Her Aduocate to th'lowd'st. We do not know
How he may soften at the sight o'th Childe:
The slence often of pure innocence
Perswades, when speaking failes.

Emil. Most worthy Madam, your honor, and your goodnesse is so evident,
That your free vndertaking cannot misse
A thriving vsiue: there is no Lady huing
So meete for this great errand; please your Ladiship
To visit the next roome, ile presently
Acquaint the Queene of your most noble offer,
Who, but to day hammered of this designe,
But durst not tempt a minister of honour
Least she should be deny'd.

Pan

Paul. Tell her (Emilia)

He vie that tongue I have: If wit flow from't As boldnesse from my bolome, le't not be doubted I shall do good,

Emil. Now be you bleft for it.

Ile to the Queene : pleate you come something neerer. Gas. Madam, il't please the Queene to send the babe, I know not what I shall incurre, to passe it, Haujng no warrant.

Pas. You neede norteare it (fir) This Childe was priforer to the wombe, and is By Law and processe of great Nature, thence Free'd, and enfranchis'd, not a partie to The anger of the King, nor guilty of (If any be) the trespasse of the Queene.

Gao. I do beleeue it.

Paul. Do not you feare: vpou mine honor, I Will stand betwixt you, and danger.

Leo. Nornight, nor day, no rest: It is but weaknesse To beare the matter thus: meere weaknesse, if The cause were not in being: part o'ch cause, She, th'Adultresse: for the harlot-King Is quite beyond mine Arme, out of the blanke And levell of my braine : plot-proofe : but shee, I can hooke to me : fay that the were gone, Given to the fire, a moity of my reft Might come to me againe. Whose there?

Ser. My Lord.

Les. How do's the boy?

Ser. He tooke good rest to night: 'tis hop'd His sicknesse is discharg'd.

Lee. To see his Noblenesse, Conceyuing the dishonour of his Mother. He straight declin'd, droop'd, tooke it deeply, Fasten'd, and fix'd the shame on't in himselte: Threw-off his Spirit, his Appetite, his Sleepe, And down-right languish d. Leave me solely: goe, See how he fares: Fie, fie, no thought of him, The very thought of my Reuenges that way Recoyle vpon me : in himselfe too mightie, And in his parties, his Alliance; Let him be, Vitill a time may ferue. For prefent vengeance Take it on her: Camille, and Polizones Laugh at me : make their pastime at my sorrow: They should not laugh, if I could reach them, nor Shall she, within my powre.

Enter Paulina

Lord. You must not enter.

Paul. Nay rather (good my Lords) be second to me: Feare you his tyrannous passion more (alas) Then the Queenes life? A gracious innocent foule, More free, then he is icalous.

Autig. That's enough.

Ser. Madam; he hath not slept to night, commanded None should come at him.

Pan. Not so hot (good Sir)
I come to bring him sleepe. Tis such as you

That creepe like shadowes by him, and do sighe At each his needlesse heavings: such as you Nourish the cause of his awaking. I Do come with words, as medicinall, as true; (Honest, as either;) to purge him of that humor, That presses him from sleepe.

Les. Who noyse there, hec?

Pass. No noyfe (my Lord) but needfull conference, About some Gossips for your Highnesse.

Lee. How?

Away with that audacious Lady. Antigones. I charg'd thee that the should not come about me, I knew the would.

Ant. I told her so (my Lord) On your displeasures perill, and on mine, She should not visit you.

Les. What? canft not rule her?

Paul. From all dishonestie he can: in this (Vnlesse he take the course that you have done) Commit me, for committing honor, trust it, He shall not rule me:

Am. La-you now, you heare, When the will take the raine, I let her run, But shee'l not flumble.

Paul. Good my Liege, I come: And I beleech you heare me, who professes My selse your loyall Seruant, your Physician, Your most obedient Counsailor; yet that dares Lesse appeare so, in comforting your Euilles, Then such as most seeme yours. I say, I come From your good Queene.

Lee. Good Queene?

Paul. Good Queenc (my Lord) good Queene, I fay good Queene, And would by combate, make her good so, were I A man, the worst about you.

Leo. For cherhence.

Pau Let him that makes but trifles of his eyes First hand me : on mme owne accord, He off, Bit first, ile do my errand. The good Queene (For the is good) hath brought you forth a daughter, Heere 'tis. Commends it to your blefsing.

A mankinde Witch? Hence with her, out o'dore: A most intelligencing bawd.

Paul. Notio:

I am as ignorant in that, as you, In so entit'ling me : and no lesse honest Then you are mad: which is enough, He warrant (As this world goes) to passe for honest:

Leo, Traitors;

Will you not push her out? Giue her the Bastard, Thou dotard, thou art woman-tyr'd : vnroofted By thy dame Partlet heere. Take vp the Bastard, Take't vp, I say: give't to thy Croane.

Panl. For ever

Vovenerable be thy hands, if thou Tak'st up the Princesse, by that forced basenesse Which he ha's put vpon't

Lee. He dreads his Wife.

Paul. So I would you did then twere past all doubt Youl'd call your children, yours.

Les. Anest of Traitors.

Ant. I am none, by this good light.

Pan. Nor 1 : nor any

But one that's heere: and that's himselfe: for he,

The

The secred Honor of himselfe, his Queenes,
His hopefull Sonnes, his Babes, betrayes to Slander,
Whole sting is sharper then the Swords; and will not (For as the case now stands, it is a Curse
He cannot be compell'd too't) once remoue
The Root of his Opinion, which is rotten,
As euer Oake, or Stone was sound.

Lee. A Callat
Of boundleffe tongue, who late hath beat her Husband,
And now bayts me: This Brat is none of mine,
It is the Islue of Polizenes.

Hence with it, and together with the Dam, Commit them to the fire.

Paul. It is yours:
And might we liv th'old Proverb to your charge,
So like you, this the worfe. Behold (my Lords)
Although the Print be little, the whole Matter
And Coppy of the Father: (Eye, Nofe, Lippe,
The trick of's Frowne, his Fore-head, nay, the Valley,
I he pretty dimples of his Chin, and Cheeke; his Smiles:
The very Mold, and frame of Hand, Nayle, Finger.)
And thou good Goddelfe Nature, which haft made it
So like to him that got it, if thou haft
The ordering of the Mind too, mongst all Colours
No Yellow in't, least the fuspect; as he do's,

Her Children, not her Husbands.

Lee. A groffe Hagge:
And Lozell, thou art worthy to be hang'd,
That wilt not flay her Tongue.

Antig. Hang all the Husbands
That cannot doe that Feat, you'le leave your felfe, Hardly one Subject.

Leo. Once more take her hence.

Paul. A most vnworthy, and vnnatural! Lord
Can doe no more.

Leo. lie ha' thee burnt.

P.ml. I care not:
It is an Herctique that makes the fire,
Not she which burnes in t. He not call you Tyrant:
But this most cruell veage of your Queene
(Not able to produce more accusation
Then your owne weake-hindg'd Fancy) somthing sauors
Of Tyrannie, and will ignoble make you,
Yea, scandalous to the World.

Leo. On your Allegeance,
Out of the Chamber with her. Were Ia Tyrant,
Where were her life? she durst not call me so,
If she did know me one. Away with her.

Paul. I pray you doe not push me, I le be gone.
Looke to your Babe (my Lord) tis yours: Ione send her
A better guiding Spirit. What needs these hands?
You that are thus so tender o're his Follyes,
Will neuer doe him good, not one of you.
So. so: Farewell, we are gone.

Exit.

So, so: Farewell, we are gone.

Leo. Thou (Traytor) hast set on thy Wife to this.

My Child? away with't? even thou, that hast
A heart so tender o're it, take it hence,
And see it instantly consum'd with fire.

Even thou, and none but thou. Take it vp straight:
Within this houre bring me word 'tis done,
(And by good testimonie) or Ile seize thy life,
With what thou else call strine: if thou refuse,
And wilt encounter with my Wrath, say so;
The Bastard-braynes with these my proper hands
Shall I dash out. Goo, take it to the fire,
For thou sett'st on thy Wise.

Antig. I did not, Sir: These Lords, my Nobic Fellowes, if they please, Can cleare me in't.

Lords. We can: my Royall Liege, He is not guiltie of her comming huther.

Lee. You're lyers all.

Lord. Befeech your Highnesse, give vs better credit: We have alwayes truly served you, and befeech So to esteeme of vs: and on our knees we begge, (As recompense of our deare services Past, and to come) that you doe change this purpose, Which being so horrible, so bloody, must Lead on to some soule sfue. We all kneele.

Lea. I am a Feather for each Wind that blows:
Shall I line on to fee this Bastard kneele,
And call me Father? better burne it now,
Then curse it then. But be it: let it line.
It shall not neyther. You Sir, come you hither:
You that have beene so tenderly officious
With Lady Margerie, your Mid. wise there,
To save this Bastards lite; for 'tis a Bastard,
So sure as this Beard's gray. What will you adventure,
To save this Brats life?

Antig. Any thing (my Lord)
That my abilitie may vindergoe,
And Nobleneffe impose: at least thus much;
lle pawne the little blood which I have left,
To save the Innocent: any thing possible.

Leo. It shall be possible: Sweare by this Sword
Thou wile performe my bidding.

Anig. I will (my Lord.)

Leo. Marke, and performe it: feeft thous for the faile
Of any point in't, shall not onely be
Death to thy selfe, but to thy lewd-tongu'd Wife,
(Whom for this time we pardon) We eniouse thee,
As thou art Liege-man to vs. that thou carry
This female Bastard hence, and that thou beare it
To some remote and desart place, quite out
Of our Dominious; and that there thou leave it (Without more mercy) to it owne protection,
And fauour of the Climate: as by strange fortuna
It came to vs. I doe in lustice charge thee,
On thy Soules perill, and thy Bodyes torture,
That thou commend it strangely to some place,
Where Chance may nurse, or end it: take it vp.

Antig. I sweare to doe this: though a present death Had been more mercifull. Come on (poore Babe) Some powerfull Spirit instruct the Kytes and Rauena To be thy Nurses. Wolnes and Beares, they say, (Casting their sauagenesse as as a sue done Like offices of Pitty. #### Enter Cleomines and Dion.

Clee. The Clymat's delicate, the Ayre most sweet, Fertile the lsle, the Temple much surpassing The common prayse it beares.

Dion. I shall report,
For most it caught me, the Celestial Habits,
(Me thinkes I so should rerme them) and the reuerence
Of the grave Wearers. O, the Sacrifice,
How ceremomous solemne, and vn-earthly
It was i'th'Offring?

Clee. But of all, the burst And the eare-deast ning Voyce o'th'Oracle, Kin to Isses Thunder, so surprized my Sence, That I was nothing.

Dio. If th'euent o'th'Iourney
Proue as inccessefull to the Queene (O be't io)
As it hath beene to vs. rare, pleasant, speedie,
The time is worth the vse on't.

Cleo. Great Apillo
Turne all to th' best: these Proclamations,
So forcing faults upon Hermiune,
I little like.

Dio. The violent carriage of it
Will cleare, or end the Businesse, when the Oracle
(Thus by Apollo's great Diume seal'd vp)
Shall the Contents discouer: something rare
Euen then will rush to knowledge. Goe: fresh Horse;
And gracious be the issue.

Enter Leontes, Lords, Officers: Hermione (44 to ber Triall) Ladies: Cleomines, Dion.

Leo. This Selfions (to our great griefe we pronounce)
Euen pushes' gand our heart. The partie try'd,
The Daughter of a King, our Wife, and one
Of vs too much belou'd. Let vs be clear'd
Of being tyramous, since we to openly
Proceed in fushice which shall have due course,
Euen to the Galictor the Purgation:
Produce the Prisoner,

Officer. It is his Highnesse pleasure, that the Queene Appeare in person, here in Court.

Silence.

Leo. Reade the Indictment.

Officer. Hermione, Queene to the worthy Leontes, King of Sicilia, this art here accused and arraigned of High Trealon, in commissing Adultery with Polixenes King of Bohemia, and conspiring with Camillo to take away the Life of our Soneraigne Lord the King, thy Royall Husband: the presence whereof being by circumstances partly layd open, thou (Hermione) contrary to the Faith and Allegeance of a true Subiett didst counsaile and ayde them, for their better safetie, to stye away by Night.

Her. Since what I am to say, must be but that Which contradicts my Accusation, and The tellimonie on my part, no other But what comes from my selfe, it shall scarce boot me To say, Not guiltie: mine Integritie Being counted Falsehood, shall (as I expresse it) Be so receiu'd. But thus, if Powres Diuine Behold our humane Actions (as they doe) I doubt not then, but Innocence shall make False Accusation blush, and Tyrannie Tremble at Patience. You (my Lord) best know (Whom least will seeme to doe so) my past life Hath beene as continent, as chaste, as true, As I am now vnhappy; which is more Then Historie can patterne, though devis'd, And play'd, to take Spectators. For behold me, A Fellow of the Royall Bed, which owe A Mostie of the Throne: a great Kings Daughter, The Mother to a hopefull Prince, here flanding To prate and talke for Life, and Honor, fore Who please to come, and heare. For Life, I prize it As I weigh Griefe (which I would spare:) For Honor, 'Tis a derivative from me to mine, And onely that I stand for. I appeale To your owne Conference (Sir) before Polixenes Came to your Court, how I was in your grace, How merited to be so: Since he came, With what encounter so viicurrant, I Hane itrayn'd t'appeare thus; it one iot beyond The bound of Honor, or in act, or will That way enclining, hardned be the hearts Of all that heare me, and my neer'st of Kin Cry fie vpon my Graue.

Lee. I no reheard yet,
That any of thele bolder Vices wanted
Lesse Impudence to game-lay what they did,
Then to perform entirst.

Her. That's true enough,
Though'ers a faying (Sir) not due to me.
Lee. You will not owne it.

Her. More then Miltresse of, Which comes to me in name of Fault, I must not At all acknowledge, I of Polixenes (With whom I ain accur'd, I doe confesse I lou'd him, as in Honor he requir'd: With fuch a kind of Loue, as might become A Lady kke me; with a Love, even fuch, So, and no other, as your selfe commanded: Which, not to have done, I thinke had been in me Both Disobedience, and Ingratitude To you, and toward your Friend, whose Loue had spoke, Euen since it could speake, from an Infant, freely, That it was yours. Now for Conspiracie I know not how it taftes, though it be dish'd Formero try how: All I know of it, Is, that Camillo was an honest man; And why he left your Court, the Gods themselues (Worting no more then I) are ignorant.

Lee. You knew of his departure, as you know What you have undertaine to doe in's absence.

Her. Sit,

Her. Sir, You speake a Language that I understand not: My Life stands in the levell of your Dreames, Which He lay downe.

Lee. Your Actions are my Dreames. You had a Bastard by Polixenes, And I but dream'd it: As you were past all shame, (Those of your Fact are so) so past all truth; Which to deny, concernes more then availes, for as Thy Brat hath been cast out, like to it selfe, No Father owning it (which is indeed More criminall in thee, then it) fo thou Shalt feele our Iustice; in whole casiest passage, Looke for no lesse then death.

Her. Sir, spare your Threats: The Bugge which you would fright me with, I feeke: To me can Life be no commoditic; The crowne and comfort of my Life (your Fauor) I doe give lost, for I doc feele it gone, But know not how it went. My fecond loy, And first Fruits of my body, troin his pretence lam bar'd, like one infectious. My third comfort (Star'd most value kily) is from my breast (The innocent milke in it most innocent mouth) Hal'd out to murther. My seise on every Post Proclaym'd a Strumpet: With immodest hatred The Child-bed priu ledge deny'd, which longs To Women of all fashion. Lastly, herried Here, to this place, i'rh' open ayre, before I haue got fliength of limit. Now(my Liege) Tell me what bleffings I have here alive, That I should scare to die? Therefore proceed: But yet heare this: mistake me not: no Life, (I prize it not a straw) but for mine Honor, Which I would free: if I shall be condemn'd Vpon furmizes (all proofes sleeping else, But what your Icalonties awake) I tell you Tis Rigor, and not Law Your Honors all, I doe referre me to the Oracle:

Apollo be my ludge.

Lord. This your request Is altogether just: therefore bring forth (And in Apollo's Name) his Oracle.

Her. The Emperor of Russia was my Father. Oh that he were aliue, and here beholding His Daughters Tryall: that he did but see The flatnesse of my miserie; yet with eyes Of Pitty, not Revenge.

Officer. You here shal sweare vpon this Sword of Sustice, That you (Cleomines and Dion) have Been both at Delphos, and from thence have brought This feal'd-vp Oracle, by the Hand deliver'd Of great Apollo's Priest; and that fince then, You have not dar'd to breake the holy Seale, Not read the Secrets in't.

Cled Dio. All this we sweare. Leo. Breake up the Scales, and read.

Officer. Hermione is chaff, Polizenes blamelesse, Camillo a true Subject, Leontes a italous Tyrant, his innocent Babe truly begotten, and the King shall like without an Herre, if that which w lost be not found.

Lords. Now bleffed be the great Apollo.

Her. Prayled.

Leo. Hast thou read truth?

Offic. I (my Lord) even so se it is here set downe. Les. There is no truth at all i'th'Oracle:

The Sessions shall proceed: this is meere falschood.

Ser. My Lord the King: the King?

Leo. What is the businesse?

Ser. O Sir, I shall be hated to report it. The Prince your Sonne, with meere concert, and feare Of the Queenes speed, is gone.

Lee. How? gone?

Ser. Is dead.

Lee. Apollo's angry, and the Leauens theniselues Doestsike at my Insuffice. How now there? Paul. This newes is mortall to the Queene; Look downe And fee what Death is doing.

Leo. Take her hence: Her heart is but o're-cliarg'd: she will recouer. I have too much beleeu'd mine owne suspition: Befeech you tenderly apply to her Some remedies for lite. Apollo pardon My great prophanenesse 'gainst thine Oracle. He reconcile me to Polivenes, New woe my Queene, recall the good Camsllo (Whom I proclaime a man of Truth, of Mercy:) For being transported by my Icalousies To bloody thoughts, and to reuenge, I chose Camello for the minister, to poyson My friend Polivenes: which had been done, But that the good mind of Camillo tardied Reward, did threaten and encourage him,

My swift command: though I with Death, and with Not doing it, and being done: he (most humane, And fill'd with Honor) to my Kingly Gueft Vnclup d my practife, quit his fortunes here (Which you knew great) and to the hazard Of all Incertainties, himselfe commended, No richer then his Honor: How he glifters Through my Ruft? and how his Pierie

Do's my deeds make the blacker? Panl. Woe the while:

O cut my Lace, least my heart (cracking it) Breake too

Lord. What fit is this? good Lady? Paul. What studied torments (Tyrant) hast for me? What Wheeles? Racks? Fires? What flaying? boyling? In Leads, or Oyles? What old, or newer Torrure Must I receive? whote every word deserves To taste of thy most worst. Thy Tyranny (Together working with thy lealousies, Fancies too weake for Boyes, too greene and idle For Girles of Nine) O thinke what they have done, And then run mad indeed: starke-mad: for all Thy by-gone fooleries were but spices of it. That thou betrayed A Policeres, twas nothing, (That did but shew thee, of a Foole, inconstant, And damnable ingratefull:) Nor was's much. Thou would'st have poylon'd good Camillo's Honor, To have him kill a King: poore Trespasses, More monstrous standing by: whereof I reckon The casting forth to Crowes, thy Baby-daughter, To be or none, or little; though a Deuill Would have shed water out of fire, ere don't; Nor is't directly layd to thee, the death Of the young Prince, whose honorable thoughts (Thoughts high for one so tender) cless the heart That could conceive a groffe and foolish Sire Blemish'd his gracious Dam: this is not, no, Layd to thy answere: Dutthe last. O Lo.L.,
When I have faid, cry woes the Queene, the Queene,
The Layd to thy answere: but the last: O Lords;

The fweet'ft, dest'ft creature's dead: & vengeauce for's Not drop d downe yet.
Lord. The higher powres forbid.

Pas. I say she's dead: lle swear't. If word, nor oath Prevaile not, go and fee : if you can bring Tincture, or luftre in her lip, her eye Heate outwardly, or breath within, Ile serue you As I would do the Gods. But, Othou Tyrant, Do not sepent these things, for they are heatier Then all thy woes can stirre: therefore betake thee To nothing but dispaire. A thousand knees, Ten thousand yeares together, naked, fasting, Vpon a barren Mountaine, and still Winter In storme perpetuall, could not moue the Gods To looke that way thou wer't.

Lee. Go on, go on: Thou canst not speake too much, I have deseru'd All tongues to talke their bittiell.

Lord. Say no more; How ere the businesse goes, you have made fault I'th boldnesse of your speech.

Pan. I am forry for't; All faults I make, when I shall come to know them, I do repent: Alas, I have shew'd too much The rashnesse of a woman : he is toucht To th' Noble heart. What's gone, and what's past helpe Should be pal greete: Donot receiue affliction At my petition; I beleech you, rather Let me be punish'd, that hade minded you Of what you should forget. Now (good my Liege) Sir, Royall Sir, forgiue a toolilh woman: The love I bore your Queenc (Lo, foole againe) He speake of her no more, nor of your Children: He not remember you of my owne Lord, (Who is lost too;) take your patience to you, And He fay nothing

Leo. Thou didft speake but well, When most the truth: which I recey ae much better, Then to be pittied of thee. Prethee bring me To the dead bodies of my Queene, and Sonne One grave shall be for both: Vpon them shall The causes of their death appeare (viito Our shame perpetuall) once a day, lle visit The Chappell where they lye, and teares shed there Shall be my recreation, so long as Nature Will beare up with this exercise, so long I dayly vow to vie it. Come, and leade me Excunt To their forrowes.

Ant. Thou are perfect then, our ship hath toucht vpon The Delatts of Bohemia.

Mar. I (my Lord) and feare

We have Landed in ill time: the skies looke grimly, And threaten present blusters. In my conscience The heavens with that we have in hand, are angry,, And frowne vpon's.

Ant. Their facred wil's be done: go get a-boord, Looke to thy barke, lie not be long before

I call vpon thee.

Mar. Make your best haste, and go not Too-farrei'th Land: 'tis like to be lowd weather, Besides this place is famous for the Creatures Of prey, that keepe vpon't, Antig. Go thou away, Ile follow instantly.

Mar. I am glad at heart To be so ridde o'th businesse.

Ant. Come, poore babe; I have heard (but not beleev'd) the Spirits o'th' dead May walke againe: if such thing be, thy Mother Appear'd to me last night: for ne're was dreame So like a waking. To me comes a creature, Sometimes her head on one side, some another, I neuer saw a vessell of like sorrow So fill'd, and to becomming : in pure white Robes

Like very fanctity the did approach My Cabine where I lay : thrice bow'd before me, And (gasping to begin some speech) her eyes Became two spouts; the surie spent, anon Did this breake from her. Good Antigonus, Since Fate (against thy better disposition) Hath made thy person for the Thower-out Of my poore babe, according to thine oath, Places remote enough are in Bobamia,

There weepe, and leaue it crying: and for the babe Is counted lost for ever, Perdita I prethee call't: For this vingentle businesse Put on thee, by my Lord, thou ne're shalt see

Thy Wife Panlina more: and fo, with thrickes She melted into Ayre. Affrighted much, I aid in time collect my felfe, and thought This was to, and no flumber Dreames, are toyes, Yet for this once, yea superstitiously,

I will be squar d by this. I do beleeue Hermione hath fuffer'd death, and that Apollo would (this being indeede the illue Of King Polixener) is should beer che laude (Either for life, or death) upon the earth Ofic's right Father. Bloffen.e, speed thee well, I here lye, and there thy chairacter; there there, Which may it Fortune please, both breed thee (pretty) And this refithme. The floring beginnes poore wretch,

That for thy mothers fault, art thus expos d To loife, and what may follow. Weepel cannot, But my heart bleedes: and most accurit am I To be by oath enjoyn'd to this. Farewell,

The day frownes more and more: thou'rt like to have A lullabie too rough: I neuer taw

The heavens to dim, by day. A tavage clamor? Well may I get a-boord: This is the Chace,

Exit pursued by a Beare. IIam gone for cuer. Shep. I would there were no age betweene ten and three and twenty, or that youth would fleep out the rest for there is nothing (in the betweene) but getting wenches with childe, wronging the Auncientry, flealing, fighting, hearke you now: would any but there boyldebraines of nineteene, and two and twenty hunt this westher ? They have featr'd away two of my best Sheepe, which I feare the Wolfe will fooner finde then the Maifter; if any where I have them, 'tis by the sea-side, brouzing of luy. Good-lucke (and't be thy will) what have we heere? Mercy on's, a Barne? A very pretty barne; A boy, or a Childe I wonder? (A pretty one, a verie prettie one) fure some Scape; Though I am not bookish, yet I can reade Waiting-Gentlewoman in the scape: this has beene some staire-worke, some Trunke-worke, some behinde-doore worke: they were warmer that gotithis, then the poore Thing is heere. He take it vp for pity, yet Ile tarry till my fonne come : he hallow'd but euen now. Who2-ho-ho2.

Shep. Why boy how is it? Clo. I would you did but see how it chases, how it reges, how it takes up the shore, but that's not to the point: Oh, the most pitteous cry of the poore foules, sometimes to fee em, and not to fee em: Now the Shippe bearing the Moone with her maine Mast, and anon iwallowed with yest and froth, as you'ld thrust a Corke into a hogshead. And then for the Land-service, to see how the Beare tore out his shoulder bone, how he cride to mee for helpe, and faid his name was Antigoniu, a Nobicinan: But to make an end of the Ship, to fee how the Sea flapdragon dit : but first, how the poore seed reased, and the fea mock'd them: and how the poore G. itleman roared, and the Beare mock'd h.m, both rouring lowder then the fea, or weather.

Shep. Name of mercy, when was this boy?

Clo. Now, now: I have not wink'd fince I sawthese fights: the men are not yet cold under water, nor the Beare halfe din'd on the Gentleman: he's at it now.

Shop. Would I had bin by, to have help'd the olde

Clo. I would you had beene by the ship side, to have help d her; there your charity would have lack'd footing. Shep. Heavy matters, heavy matters: but looke thee heere boy. Perd. Ile sweare for 'em.

You woo'd me the faile way.

Po. This is the prettieft Low-borne Laffe, that ever Ran on the greene-ford: Nothing the do's, or feemes But smackes of something greater then her selfe, Too Noble for this place.

Cam. He tels her something That makes her blood looke on't: Good footh she is The Queene of Curds and Creame.

Clo. Come on: strike vp.

Dercas, Mopsa must be your Mistris: marry Garlick to mend her kissing with.

Che. Not a word, a word, we stand upon our manners, Come,firike vp.

Heere a Dannee of Shopbeards and Shephearddesses.

Pol. Pray good Shepheard, what faire Swaine is this, Which dances with your daughter?

Shep. They call him Dorscles, and boafts himselfe To have a worthy Feeding; but I have it Vpon his owne report, and I beleeue it: He lookes like footh: he sayes he loues my daughter, I thinke so too; for neuer gaz'd the Moone Vpon the water, as hee'l fland and reade As 'twere my daughters eyes: and to be plaine, I thinke there is not halfe a kisse to choose

Who loues another best.

Pol. She dances featly. Shep. So she do's any thing, though I report it That should be filent: If yong Dericles Do light vpon her, she shall bring him that Enter Sernans.

Which he not dreames of. Ser. O Mafter: if you did but heare the Pedler at the doore, you would neuer dance againe after a Tabor and Pipe: no, the Bag-pipe could not moue you: hee finges seuerali Tunes, faster then you'l tell money: hee vtiers them as he had eaten ballads, and all mens eares grew to

Cla. He could never come better : hee shall come in : I loue a bail ad but euen too well, if it be dolefull matter merrily let downe : or a very pleafant thing indeede, and fung lamentably.

Ser. He hath songs for man, or woman, of all sizes: No Milliner can so fit his enstomers with Gloves: he has the prettieft Loue-longs for Maids, fo without bawdrie (which is ftrange,) with such delicate burthens of Dildo's and Fadings: Iump-her, and thump-her; and where fome fretch-mouth'd Rascall, would (as it were) meane milcheefe, and breake a fowle gap into the Matter, hee makes the maid to answere, Whoop, dee merobarme good man: put's him off, flights him, with whoop, doe mee no harme good man.

Pol. This is a braue fellow.

Clo. Beleece mee, thou talkest of an admirable conceited fellow, has he any unbraided Wares?

Ser. Hec hath Ribbons of all the colours i'th Rainebow; Points, more then all the Lawyers in Bobemia, can learnedly handle, though they come to him by th'groffe: Inckles, Caddysses, Cambrickes, Lawnes: why he sings em ouer, as they were Gods, or Goddeiles: you would thinke a Smocke were a shee-Angell, he so chauntes to the secue-hand, and the worke about the square on't.

Ch. Pre'thee bring him in, and let him approach fin-

Perd. Forewarne him, that he vie no scurrilous words in's tunes.

Clow. You have of these Pedlers, that have more in them, then youl'd thinke (Sifter.)

Perd. I, good brother, or go about to thinke.

Enter Autolicus singing. Lawne as white as driven Snow, Cypresse blacke as ere was Crow, Glones as sweete as Damaske Roses, Maskes for faces, and formofes: Bugle-bracelet, Necke lace Amber, Perfume for a Ladies Chamber : Golden Quoifes, and Stomachers For my Lads, to give their deers: Pins, and poaking flickes of seele. What Maids lacke from head to heele: Come buy of me, come: come buy, come buy, Buy Lads, or else your Lasses cry . Come buy.

Clo. If I were not in love with Mopfe, thou shouldst take no money of me, but being enthrall'd as I am, it will also be the bondage of certaine Ribbons and Gloues,

Mop. I was promis'd them against the Feast, but they come not too late now.

Dor. He hath promis'd you more then that," or there be lyars.

Mop. He hath paid you all he promis'd yous May be he has paid you more, which will shame you to give him againe.

Clo. Is there no manners left among maids? Will they weare their plackets, where they should bear their saces? Is there not milking-time? When you are going to bed? Or kill-hole? To whiftle of these secrets, but you must be tittle-tatling before all our guests? Tis well they are whilpring:clamor your tongues, and not a word more.

Mop. I have done; Comeyou promis'd me a sawdry-

lace, and a paire of fweet Gloues,

Clo. Haue Inot told thee how I was cozen'd by the way, and lost all my money.

Aut. And indeed Sir, there are Cozeners abroad, therfore it behooves men to be wary.

Cla. Feare not thou man, thou shalt lose nothing here Am. Ihope so sir, for I have about me many parcels of charge.

Clo. What haft heere? Ballads?

Mop. Pray now buy some: I loue a ballet in print, a life, for then we are fure they are true.

Ant. Here's one, to a very dolefull tune, how a Viu-rers wife was brought to bed of twenty money baggs at a burthen, and how the long'd to cate Adders heads, and Toads carbonado'd.

Mop. Is it true, thinke you? Aut. Very true, and but a moneth old. Der. Bleffe me from marrying a Viurer.

Aut. Here's the Midwines name to't : one Mist. Tale-Porter, and fine or fix honest Wines, that were pretent. Why fhould I carry lyes abroad?

Map. 'Pray you now buy it.
Clo. Come-on, lay it by: and let's first see moe Ballads: Wee'l buy the other things anon.

Aut. Here's another ballad of a Fish, that appeared vpon the coast, on wensday the fourescore of April, fortie thousand sadom aboue water, & sung this ballad against the hard hearts of maids: it was thought the was a Woman, and was turn'd into a cold fish, for the wold not exchange fiesh with one that lou'd her: The Ballad is very pittifull, and as true.

Dor. Is it true too, thinke you.

Antel. Fine Inflices hands at it, and witnesses more then my packe will hold.

Clo. Lay it by too; another.

Aut. This is a merry ballad, but a very pretty one.

Mop. Let's have forme merry ones.

Ant. Why this is a passing merry one, and goes to the tune of two maids wooing a man: there's scarie a Marde westward but she sings it: tis in request, I can tell you.

Mop. We can both fing it; if thou'lt beare a part, thou shalt beare, 'tis in three parts,

Dir. We had the tune on't, a month agoc.

Att. I can beare my part, you must know 'tis my occupation: Handat it with you:

Get you beuce, for I must gos Song

Where it fits not you to know. Auc.

Whinber? Dor.

O whether? Mop

Dor. Whether?

Mop. It becomes thy outh full well, Thouse me thy fecrets tell.
Me too: Le me go thether:

Dor:

Orthon goest toth Grange, or Mill, Mop

If to either then dost ill, Dor:

Nesther. Aut:

Dot: What neither?

Neither Aut:

Thou haft sworne my Lone to be, Dor:

Mop Thou haft fworme it more to mee.

Then whether goest? Say whether?

Clo. Wee'l have this fong out anon by our selves: My Father, and the Gentare in fad talke, & wee'll not trouble them: Come bring away thy pack after me, Wenches lle buy for you both: Pedler let's have the first choice; folow Ast: And you shall pay well for em. me girles. Song, Willyon buy any Tape, or Lace for your Crpe?

My dainty Ducke, my deere-a?

Any Silke, any Thred, any Tojes for your bead Of the news't, and fins't, fins't weare-a.

Come to the Pedler, Money's a medler,

That doth utter all mens wate-a Sernant. Mayster, there is three Carters, three Shep_ heids, three Neat-herds, three Swine-herds y haue made B b 3 themselves all men of haire, they cal themselves Saltiers, and they have a Dance, which the Wenches fay is a gally-maufrey of Gambols, because they are not in't : but they themselves are o'th'minde (if it bee not too rough for some, that know little but bowling) it will please plentifully.

Shop. Away: Wee'l none on't; heere has beene too much homely foolery already. I know (Sir) wee wea-

Pol. You wearie those that refresh ys : pray let's see thele foure-threes of Heardimen.

Ser. One three of them, by their owner eport (Sir,) hath dane'd before the King: and not the worst of the three, but iumpes twelve foote and a halfe by th' fquire.

Shep. Leave your prating, fince these good men are pleaf'd, let them come in : but quickly now,

Ser. Why, they flay at doore Sir.

Heere a Dance of twelve Satyres."

Pol. O Father, you'l know more of that heereafter: Is it not too farre gone? Tis time to part them, He's simple, and tels much. How now (faire shepheard) Your heart is full of something, that do's take Your minde from feasting. Sooth, when I was yong, And handed loue, as you do; I was wont To load my Shee with knackes: I would have ranfackt The Pedlers filken Treasury, and haue powr'd it To her acceptance: you have let him go, And nothing marted with him. If your Laste Interpretation should abuse, and call this Your lacke of love, or bounty, you were straited For a reply at leaft, if you make a care Ot happie holding her.

Flo. Old Sir, I know She prizes not such trifles as these are: The gifts she lookes from me, are packt and lockt Vp mmy heart, which I have given already, Buenor deliver'd. O heare me breach my life Before this ancient Sir, whom (it should seeme) Hath sometime lou'd: I take thy hand, this hand, As fost as Dones-downe, and as white as it, Or Ethyopians tooth, or the fau'd fnow, that's bolted By th'Northerne blasts, twice ore.

Pol. What followes this?

How prettily th'yong Swaine feemes to wash The hand, was faire before ? I have put youout, But to your proteflution: Let me heare What you professe.

Flo. Do, and be wirnesse too't. Pol. And this my neighbour too?

Ho. And he, oud more Then he, and men: the earth, the heavens, and all; That ware I crown'd the most Imperial Monarch Thereof most worthy : were I the fayrest youth That ever made eye swerne, had force and knowledge More then was ever mans, I would not prize them Withouther Loue; for her, employ them all, Commend them, and condemne them to her feruice, Or to their owne perdition.

P.l. Fairely offer'd.

Cans. This showes a found affection.

Siep. But my daughter, Say you the like to him.

Per. I cannot speake So well, (nothing fo well) no, her meane better By th'patterne of mine owne thoughts, I cut out The puritie of his.

Shop. Take hands, a bargaine; And friends vnknowne, you shall beare witnesse to't: I give my daughter to him, and will make Her Portion, equal his.

Flo. O, that must bee I'th Vertue of your daughter: One being dead, I shall have more then you can dreame of yet, Enough then for your wonder: but come-on, Contract vs fore these Witnesses.

Shep. Come, your hand:

And daughter, yours.

Pol. Soft Swaine a-while, beseech you, Haue you a Father ?

Flo. I have: but what of him?

Pol. Knowes he of this?

Flo. He neither do's, nor shall,

Pol. Me-thinkes a Father,

Is at the Nuptiall of his fonne, a guest That best becomes the Table: Pray you once more Is not your Father growne incapeable Of reasonable affayres? Is he not stupid With Age, and altring Rheumes? Can he speake? heare? Know man, from man? Dispute his owne estate? Lies he not bed-rid? And againe, do's nothing But what he did, being childssh?

Flo. No good Sir : He has his health, and ampler ftrength indecde Then most hauc of his age.

Pol. By my white beard, You offer him (if this be to) a wrong Something vifilliall: Reaton my fonne Should chook himfelte a wife, but as good reason The Father (all whose ioy is nothing else But faire posterity) should hold some countaile In luch a bulineffe.

Flo. I yeeld all this; But for foine other reasons (my grave Sir) Which 'tis not fit you know, I not acquaint My Father of this butinesse.

Fel. Let him know't.

Flo He shall not.

Pol. Pretheetet him.

I/o No. he must not.

Shep. Lethim (my fonne) he fhall not need to greeue At knowing of thy choice.

Fig. Come, come, he must not:

Marke our Contract.

Pol. Marke your dinorce (youg fir) Whom fonne I date not call: I how art too bale To be acknowledge. Thou a Scepters heire That thus affects a fheepe-hooke? I hou, old Traitor, I am forry, that by hanging thee, I can but forten thy life one weeke. And thou, fresh peece Of excellent Witchcraft, whom of force must know The royall Foole thou coap'st with.

Shep. Oh my heart.
Pol. He have thy beauty scratcht with briers & made More homely then thy flate. For thee (fond boy) It I may ever know thou dost but figh,

That thou no more shalt never see this knacke(as never I meane thou shalt) wee'l barre thee from succession, Not hold thee of our blood, no not ou. Kin, Farre then Dencalson off: (marke thou my words)
Follow vs to the Court. Thou Churle, for this time (Though full of our displeasure) yet we free thee

From the dead blow of it. And you kneurantment,

Wor-

Worthy enough a Heardsman; yea him too,
That makes himselfe (but for our Honor therein)
Vnworthy thee. If ever henceforth, thou
These rurall Latches, to his entrance open,
Or hope his body more, with thy embraces,
I will devise a death, as cruell for thee
As thou art tender to't.

Exit.

Perd. Euen heere vndone:
I was not much a-fear'd: for once, or twice
I was about to speake, and tell him plainely,
The selfe-same Sun, that shanes upon his Court,
Hides not his visage from our Cottage, but Lookes on alike. Wilt please you (Sit) be gone?
I told you what would come of this: Beseech you

Of your owne state take care: This dreame of mine Being now awake, He Queene it no mich farther, But milke my Ewes, and weepe.

Cam. Why how now Father, Speake ere thou dyest.

Shep. I cannot speake, nor thinke,
Nor dare to know, that which I know: O Sir,
You have vindone a man of fourescore three,
That thought to fill his grave in quiet: yea,
To dye vpon the bed my father dy'de,
To lye close by his honest bones; but now
Some Hingman must put on my shrowd, and lay me
Where no Priest shoulds-indust. Oh curied wretch,
That knew'st this was the Prince, and wouldst adventure
To mingle faith with him. Vindone, vindone.
If I might dye within this house, I have hu'd
To die when I desire.

Exis.

Ho. Why looke you so vponme?
I am but serry, not affear'd: delaid,
But nothing altted. What I was, I am:
More straining on, for plucking backe; not sollowing
My leash vnwillingly.

Cam. Gracious my Lord,
You know my Fathers temper: at this time
He will allow no speech: (which I do ghesse
You do not purpose to him:) and as hardly
Will he endure your sight, as yet I seare;
Then till the suity of his Highmesse settle
Come not before lum.

Flo. I not putpose it: I thinke Camillo.

Cam. Euen he, my Lord.

Per. How often haue I told you'twould be thus? How often faid my dignity would last But till 'twer knowne?

Flo. It cannot faile, but by
The violation of my faith, and then
Let Nature crush the sides o'th earth together,
And marre the seeds within. List vp thy lookes:
From my succession wipe me (Father) I
Am heyre to my affection.

Cam. Be aduis'd.

Flo. I am: and by my fancie, if my Reason Will thereto be obedient: I have reason: If not, my sences better pleas'd with madnesse, Do bid it welcome.

Cam. This is desperate (fir.)
Flo. So call it: but it do's fulfill my vow:
I needs must thinke it honesty. Camillo.
Not for Bohemia, not the pompe that may Be thereat gleined: for all the Sun sees, or
The close earth wombes, or the profound seas, hides

In voknowne fadomes, will I breake my oath
To this my faire belou'd: Therefore, I pray you,
As you have ever bin my Fathers honour'd friend,
When he shall misse me, as (in faith I meane not
To see him any more) cast your good counsailes
Vpon his passion: Let my selfe, and Fortune
Tug for the time to come. This you may know,
And so deliver, I am put to Sea
With her, who heere I cannot hold on shore:
And most opportune to her neede, I have
A Vessell rides fast by, but not prepar'd
For this designe. What course I meane to hold Shall nothing benefit your knowledge, nor Concerne me the reporting.

Cam. O my Lord, I would your ipirit were casser for aduice, Or stronger for your neede.

Flo. Hearke Feedita, Ile heare you by and by,

Cam. Hee's irremone ble,
Refolu'd for flight: Now were I happy if
His going, I could frame to ferue my turne,
Saue him from danger, do him love and honor,
Purchate the fight agains of decre Sicillia,
And that vahappy King, my Matter, whom
I fo much thirst to fee.

Flo. Now good Camillo, I am to fraught with curious bufineffe, that I leave out ceremony.

Cam. Sir, I thinke
You have heard of my poore feruices, i'th loue
That I have borne your Father?

Flo. Very nobly
Hane you defert d: It is my Fathers Musicke
To speake your deeds: not little of his care
To have them recompene'd, as thought on.

C.m. Well (my Lord)

If you may please to thinke I loue the King,
And through him, what's neerest to him, which is
Your gracious selfe; embrace but my direction,
If your more ponderous and settled project
May suffer a teration. On mine honor,
Ile point you where you shall have such receiving
As shall become your Highnesse, where you may Empy your Mistris; from the whom, I see
There's no dissunction to be made, but by
(As heavens foresend) your rune. Marry her,
And with my best endeadours, in your absence,
Your discontenting Father, strive to qualifie
And bring him vp to liking.

Flo: How Camillo

May this (almost a miracle) be done?

That I may call thee something more then man,
And after that trust to thee.

Cam. Have you thought on A place whereto you'l go?

Flo. Not any yet:

But as th'ynthought-on accident is guiltie
To what we wildely do, so we professe
Our selues to be the slaues of chance, and slyes
Of every winde that blowes.

Cam, Then lift to me:
This tollowes, if you will not change your purpose
But vndergo this flight; make for Sicillia,
And there present your selfe, and your fayre Princesse,
(For so I see she must be) fore Leontes;

Stick

Ì.,

She shall be habited, as it becomes
The partner of your Bed. Me thinkes I see
Leaves opening his free Armes, and weeping
His Welcomes forth: asks thee there Sonne for givenesse,
As 'twere i'th' Fathers person: kisses the hands
Of your fresh Princesse; ore and ore divides him,
'T wixt his vnkindnesse, and his Kindnesse: th'one
He chides to Hell, and bids the other grow
Faster then Thought, or Time.

Flo. Worthy Camello,
What colour for my Visitation, shall I
Hold vp before him?

Cam. Sent by the King your Father
To greet him, and to give him comforts. Sir,
The manner of your bearing towards him, with
What you (as from your Father) shall deliver,
Things knowne betwixt vs three, He write you downe,
The which shall point you forth at every sitting
What you must say: that he shall not perceive,
But that you have your Fathers Bosome there,
And speake his very Heart.

Flo. I am bound to you: There is some sappe in this.

Cam. A Course more promising,
Then a wild dedication of your selves
To unpath'd Waters, undream'd Shores; most certaine,
To Miseries enough: no hope to helpe you,
But as you shake off one, to take another:
Nothing so certaine, as your Anchors, who
Doe their best office, if they can but stay you,
Where you'le be loth to be: beside, you know,
Prosperitie's the very bond of Loue,
Whose fresh complexion, and whose heart together,
Affliction alters.

Perd. One of these is true:
I thinke Affliction may subdue the Cheeke,
But not take-in the Mind.

Cam. Yea? say you so?
There shall not, at your Fathers Honse, these seuen yeeres
Be borne another such.

Fle. My good Camillo, She's as forward, of her Breeding, as She is i'th' reare 'our Birth.

Cam. I cannot say, 'tis pitty
She lacks Instructions, for the scemes a Mistresse
To most that teach.

Perd. Your pardon Sir, for this, lie blush you Thanks.

Ile blush you Thanks.

Flo. My prettiest Perdita.

But O, the Thornes we stand vpon: (Camillo)

Preserver of my Father, now of me.

The Medicine of our House: how shall we doe?

We are not surnished like Bohemia's Sonne.

Nor shall appeare in Sicilia.

Cam. My Lord,
Feare none of this: I thinke you know my fortunes
Doe all lye there: it shall be so my care,
To have you royally appointed, as if
The Scene you play, were mine. For instance Sir,
That you may know you shall not want: one word,
Enter Autolicie.

Aut. Ha,ha, what a Foole Honestie is? and Trust (his sworne brother) a very simple Centleman. I have sold all my Tromperie: not a counterfeit Stone, not a Ribbon, Glasse, Pomander, Browch, Table-booke, Ballad, Knife, Tape, Gloue, Shooe-tye, Bracelet, Horne-Ring, to keepe my Pack from fasting: they throng who should buy first, as if my Trinkets had beene hallowed, and brought a benediction to the buyer: by which meanes, I saw whose Purse was best in Picture; and what I saw, to my good vie, I remembred. My Clowne (who wants but something to be a reasonable man) grew so in love with the Wenches Song, that hee would not stirre his Petty-toes, till he had both Tune and Words, which so drew the reft of the Heard to me, that all their other Sences flucke in Eares: you might have pinch'd a Placket, it was sencelesse; 'twas nothing to gueld a Cod-peece of a Purse: I would have fill'd Keyes of that hung in Chaynes: no hearing, no feeling, but my Sirs Song, and admiring the Nothing of it. So that in this time of Lethargie, I pickd and cut most of their Festivall Purses: And had not the old-man come in with a Whoo-bub against his Daughter, and the Kings Sonne, and scar'd my Chowghes from the Chaffe, I had not lest a Purse aline in the whole

Cam. Nay, but my Letters by this meanes being there So foone as you arrive, shall cleare that doubt.

Flo And those that you'le procure from King Leontest Cam. Shall tatisfie your Father.

Perd. Happy be you: All that you speake, shewes faire.

Cam. Who have we here? Wee'le make an Instrument of this: omit

Nothing may give vs aide.

Aut. If they have over-heard me now: why hanging.

Cam. How now (good Fellow)
Why shak'st thou so? Feare not (man)
Here's no harme intended to thee.

Ant. I am a poore Fellow, Sir.

Cans. Why, be to full: here's no body will steale that from thee: yet for the out-fide of thy pouritie, we must make an exchange; therefore dis-case thee instantly (thou must thinke there's a necessitie in't) and change Gainents with this Gentieman: Though the penny-worth (on his side) be the worst, yet hold thee, there's some boot.

eant. I am a poore Fellow, Sir: (1 know ye well enough.)

Cam. Nay prethee dispatch; the Gentleman is halfe fled already.

Ant. Are you in earnest, Sir? (I finell the trick on't.) Ilo. D sparch, I piethee.

Aut. Indeed I have had Earnest, but I cannot with conference take it.

Cam. Vibraile, vibraile.
Fortunate M. firefle (let my prophecie
Come home to ye.) you must retire your selse
Into some Couert; take your sweet-hearts Hat
And pluck it ore your Browes, mustle your face,
Dis-mentle you, and (as you can) disliken
The truth of your owne seeming, that you may
(For I doe seare eyes over) to Ship-boord
Get vindescry'd.

Perd. I see the Play so lyes, That I must beare a part.

Cam. No remedie: Haue you done there?

Flo. Should I now meet my Father, He would not call me Sonne.

Cam. Nay, you shall have no Hat: Come Lady, come: Farewell (my friend.)

Am. Adieu, Sir.

Flo: O Perdita: what have we twaine forgot?

'Pray

Pray you a word.

Cam. What I doe next, shall be to tell the King Of this escape, and whither they are bound; Wherein, my hope is, I shall so preuaile, To force him after: in whose company I shall re-view Sicilia; for whose sight, I have a Womans Longing.

Flo. Fortune speed vs:

Thus we fet on (Camillo) to th' Sea-fide.

Cams. The swifter speed, the better. Exit.

Aut. I vnderstand the businesse, I heare it: to have an open eare, a quick eye, and a nimble hand, is necessary for a Cut-purse; a good Nose is requisite also, to smell o t worke for th'other Sences. I see this is the time that the vnsust man doth thrive. What an exchange had this been, without boot? What a boot is here, with this exchange. Sure the Gods doe this yeere conside at vs, and we may doe any thing extempore. The Prince himselfe is about a peece of Iniquitie (stealing away from his Father, with his Clog at his heeless) if I thought it were a peece of honestie to acquaint the King withall, I would not dot: I

I constant to my Profession.

Enter Clowne and Shepheard.

hold it the more knauerie to conceale it; and therein am

Aside, aside, here is more matter for a hot braine: Euery Lanes end, euery Shop, Church, Session, Hanging, yeelds a carefull man worke.

Clowne. See, see: what a man you are now? there is no other way, but to tell the King she's a Changeling, and none of your stell and blood.

Shep. Nay, but heare me. Clow. Nay; but heare me.

Shep. Goe too then.

Clow. She being none of your flesh and blood, your flesh and blood ha's not offended the King, and so your flesh and blood is not to be punish'd by him. Shew those things you found about her (those secret things, all but what she ha's with her:) This being done, let the Law goe whistle: I warrant you.

Shep. I will tell the King all, euery word, yea, and his Sonnes prancks too; who, I may say, is no honest man, neither to his Father, nor to me, to goe about to make me the Kings Brother in Law.

Clew. Indeed Brother in Law was the farthest off you could have beene to him, and then your Blood had beene the dearer, by I know how much an ounce.

Aut. Very wisely (Puppies.)

Shep. Well: let vs to the King: there is that in this Farthell, will make him scratch his Beard.

Am. I know not what impediment this Complaint may be to the flight of my Master.

Clo. Pray heartily he be at Pallace.

Am. Though I am not naturally honest, I am so sometimes by chance: Let me pocket up my Pedlers excrement. How now (Russiques) whither are you bound?

Shep. To th' Pallace (and it like your Worship.)

Ant. Your Affaires there? what? with whom? the Condition of that Farthell? the place of your dwelling?

your names? your ages? of what having? breeding, and any thing that is fitting to be knowne, discouer?

Clo. We are but plaine fellowes, Sir.

Am. A Lye; you are rough, and hayrie: Let me have no lying; it becomes none but Tradel-men, and they often give vs (Souldiers) the Lye, but wee pay them for it with framped Coyne, not frabbing Steele, therefore they doe not give vs the Lye.

Clo. Your Worship had like to have given vs one, if you had not taken your felfe with the manner.

Shep. Are you a Courtier, and't like you Sir?

Ant. Whether it lke me, or no, I am a Courtier. Seeft thou not the ayre of the Court, in these enfoldings: Hath not my gate in it, the measure of the Court? Receives not thy Nose Court-Odour from me? Reslect I not on thy Basenesse, Court-Contempt? Think'st thou, for that I infinuate, at toaze from thee thy Businesse, I am therefore no Courtier? I am Courtier Cap-a-pe; and one that will eyther push-on, or pluck-back, thy Businesse there: whereupon I command thee to open thy Assaire.

Shep. My Businesse, Sir, is to the King.

Ant. What Aduocate ha'st thou to him?

Shep. I know not (and't like you.)

Cio. Aduocate's the Court-word for a Pheazant: say you have none.

Shep. None, Sir: I haue no Pheazant Cock, nor Hen.

Ant. How bleffed are we, that are not simple men? Yes Nature might have made me as these are, Therefore I will not disdaine.

Clo. This cannot be but a great Courtier.

Shep. His Garments are rich, but he weares them not handsomely.

Clo. He seemes to be the more Noble, in being fantasticall: A great man, Ile warrant; I know by the picking on's Teeth.

Aut. The Farthell there? What's i'th' Farthell? Wherefore that Box?

Shep. Sir, there lyes such Secrets in this Farthell and Box, which none must know but the King, and which hee shall know within this houre, if I may come to sn' speech of him.

Ans. Age, thou hast lost thy labour.

Shep. Why Sir?

Aut. The King is not at the Pallace, he is gone aboord a new Ship, to purge Melancholy, and ayre himselfe: for if thou bee'st capable of things serious, thou must know the King is full of griefe.

Shep. So'tis said (Sir:) about his Sonne, that should haue marryed a Shepheards Daughter.

Aut. If that Shepheard be not in hand-faft, let him flyes the Curses he shall haue, the Tortures he shall seele, will breake the back of Man, the heart of Monster.

Clo. Thinke you fo, Sir?

Ant. Not hee alone shall suffer what Wit can make heavie, and Vengeance bitter; but those that are Iermaine to him (though remou'd fiftie times) shall all come under the Hang-man: which, though it be great pitty, yet it is necessarie. An old Sheepe-whisting Rogue, a Ram-tender, to offer to have his Daughter come into gracer Some say hee shall be ston'd: but that death is too soft for him (say I:) Draw out Throne into a Sheep-Coat? als deaths are too sew, the sharpest too easie.

Clo. Ha's the old-man ere a Sonne Sir (doe you heare) and't like you, Sir?

Aut. Hee ha's a Sonne: who shall be slayd alive, then 'noynted over with Honey, set on the head of a Waspes Nest, then stand till he be three quarters and a dram deadt then recover'd agains with Aquavite, or some other hot Insusion: then, taw as he is (and in the hotest day Prognostication proclaymes) shall he be set against a Brick-wall, (the Sunne looking with a South-ward eye vpon him; where hee is to behold him, with Flyes blown to death.) But what talke we of these Traitorly-Rascals, whose miseries are to be smil'd at, their offences being so capitally

Tell me(for you seeme to be honest plainemen) what you have to the King: being something gently consider'd, le bring you where he is abourd, tender your persons to his presence, whisper him in your behalfes; and if it be in man, besides the King, to effect your Suites, here is man shall doe it.

Clow. He seemes to be of great authoritie: close with him, give him Gold; and though Authoritie be a stubborne Beare, yet hee is oft led by the Nose with Gold: shew the in-side of your Purse to the out-side of his hand, and no more adoe. Remember ston'd, and slay'd alive.

Shep. And't please you(Sir) to vndertake the Businesse for vs, here is that Gold I haue: Ile make it as much more, and leaue this young man in pawne, till I bring it wou.

Aut. After I have done what I promised?

Shep. I Sir.

Aut. Well, give me the Moitie: Are you a partie in this Businesse?

Clew. In some sort, Sir: but though my case be a pittifull one, I hope I shall not be slayd out of it.

Aut. Oh, that's the case of the Shephcards Sonne:

hang him, hee'le be made an example.

Clew. Comfort, good comfort: We must to the King, and shew out strange sights: he must know 'tis none of your Daughter, nor my Sister: wee are gone else. Sir, I will give you as much as this old man do's, when the Businesse is performed, and remaine (as he sayes) your pawne till it be brought you.

Aut. I will trust you. Walke before toward the Seafide, goe on the right hand, I will but looke vpon the Hedge, and follow you.

Clow. We are bless'd, in this man: as I may say, even bless'd.

Shep. Let's before, as he bids vs : he was prouided to doc vs good.

Aut. If I had a mind to be honest, I see Fortune would not suffer mee: shee drops Booties in my mouth. I am courted now with a double occasion: (Gold, and a means to doe the Prince my Master good; which, who knowes how that may turne backe to my advancement?) I will bring these two Moales, these blind-ones, aboord him, if he thinke it sit to shoare them againe, and that the Complaint they have to the King, concernes him nothing, let him call ine Rogue, for being so farre officious, for I am proofe against that Title, and what shame else belongs to't: To him will I present them, there may be matter in it.

Enter Leontes, Cleomines, Dion, Panlina, Sernants: Florizel, Perdita.

Cleo. Sir, you have done enough, and have perform'd A Saint-like Sorrow: No fault could you make, Which you have not redeem'd; indeed pay'd downe More penitence, then done trespas: At the last Doe, as the Heavens have done; forget your euill, With them, forgive your selfe.

Leo. Whilest I remember Her, and her Vertues, I cannot forget My blemishes in them, and so still thinke of The wrong I did my selfe: which was so much, That Heire-lesse it hath made my Kingdome, and Destroy'd the sweet's Companion, that ere man. Bred his hopes out of, true.

Paul. Too true (my Lord:)

If one by one, you wedded all the World,

Or from the All that are, tooke fomething good,

To make a perfect Woman; the you kill'd,

Would be upparallell'd.

Leo. I thinke so, Kill'd?

She I kill'd? I did so: but thou strik'st me

Sorely, to say I did: it is as bitter

Vpon thy Tongue, as in my Thought. Now, good flow,
Say so but seldome.

Cleo. Not at all, good Lady:
You might have spoken a thousand things, that would
Have done the time more benefit, and grac'd
Your kindnesse better.

Paul. You are one of those Would have him wed againe.

Dio. If you would not fo,
You pitty not the State, nor the Remembrance
Of his most Soueraigne Name: Consider little,
What Dangers, by his Highnesse faile of Issue,
May drop vpon his Kingdome, and deuoure
Incertaine lookers on. What were more holy,
Then to reioyce the former Queene is well?
What holyer, then for Royalties repayre,
For present comfort, and for suture good,
To blesse the Bed of Maiestie againe
With a sweet Fellow to't?

Paul. There is none worthy. (Respecting her that's gone:) besides the Gods Will have fulfill'd their fecret purpofes : For ha's not the Dinne Apollo laid? Is't not the tenor of his Oracle, That King Leontes shall not have an Heire, Till his loft Child be found ? Which, that it shall, Is all as monttrous to our humane reason, As my Antigonus to breake his Graue, And come againe to me. who, on my life, Did perish with the Infant. 'Tis your councell, My Lord should to the Heavens be contrary, Oppose against their wills. Care not for Issue, The Crowne will find an Heire. Great Alexander Left his to th' Worthiest: so his Successor Was like to be the best.

Lee. Good Paulina,
Who hast the memorie of Hermione
I know in honor: O, that euer I
Had squar'd me to thy councell: then, euen now,
I might haue look'd vpon my Queenes sull eyes,
Haue taken Treasure from her Lippes.

Paul. And left them More rich, for what they yeelded.

Leo. Thou speak struth:
No more such Wives, therefore no Wise: one worse,
And better vs'd, would make her Sainted Spirit
Againe possesses there Corps, and on this Stage
(Where we Offendors now appeare) Soule-vest,
And begin, why to me?

Paul. Had the fuch power, She had just fuch cause.

Lee. She had, and would incense me To murther her I marryed.

Pant. 1

Rad. I should so:

Were I the Ghost that walk'd, II'd bid you marke Her eye, and tell me for what dull part in't You chose her: then II'd shricke, that ouen your eares Should rist to heare me, and the words that follow'd, Should be, Remember mine.

Leo. Starres, Starres,
And all eyes else, dead coales: feare thou no Wife,
Ile haue no Wife, Paulina.

Paul. Will you sweare

Neuer to marry, but by my free leaue?

Leo. Neuer (Paulina) to be bles'd my Spirit.

Paul. Then good my Lords, beare witnesse to his Oath.

Cleo. You tempt him ouer much.

Paul. Vilesse another,

As like Hermione, as is her Picture,

Affront his eye.

Cleo. Good Madame, I haue done.

Paul. Yet if my Lord will marry: if you will, Sir;
No remedie but you will: Give me the Office
To chuse you a Queene: she shall not be so young
As was your former, but she shall be such
As (walk'd your first Queenes Ghost) it should take joy
To see her in your armes.

Lee. My true Paulina,

We shall not marry, till thou bidst vs.

Ser. But few,

And those but meane.

Leo. His Princesse (say you) with him?

Ser. I: the most peerelesse peece of Earth, I thinke, That ere the Sunne shone bright on.

Paul. Oh Hermione,

As every present Time doth boast it selfe
Above a better, gone; so must thy Grave
Give way to what's seene now. Sir, you your selfe
Have said, and writ so; but your writing now

Paul. Sir (my Liege) Your eye hath too much youth in't : not a moneth Fore your Queene dy dathe was more worth luch gazes Then what you looke on now.

Lee. I thought of her, Euen in these Lookes I made. But your Petition Is yet yn-answer'd: I will to your Father: Your Honor not o're-throwne by your defires, I am friend to them, and you: Vpon which Errand I now goe toward him: therefore follow me, And marke what way I make: Come good my Lord.

Scæna Secunda.

Enter Autolism, and a Gentleman.

Aut. Beseech you (Sir) were you present at this Relation?

Gent. I. I was by at the opening of the Farthell, heard the old Shepheard deliuer the manner how he found it: Whereupon(after a little amazednesse) we were all commanded out of the Chamber: onely this (me thought) I heard the Shepheard say, he found the Child.

Ant. I would most gladly know the issue of it.

Gent. 1. I make a broken debuerie of the Businesse; but the changes I perceived in the King, and Camillo, were very Notes of admiration: they feem'd almost, with flaring on one another, to teare the Cases of their Eyes. There was speech in their dumbnesse, Language in their very getture: they look'd as they had heard of a World ransom d, or one destroyed: a notable passion of Wonder appeared in them : but the wifest beholder, that knew no more but feeing, could not fay, if th'importance were loy, or Sorrow; but in the extremitie of the one, it must Enter another Gentleman. needs be.

Here comes a Gentleman, that happing knowes more:

The Newes Rogero.

Gent 2. Nothing but Bon-firesithe Oracle is suinlid: the Kings Daughter is found: fuch a deale of wonder is broken out within this houre, that Ballad-makers cannot Enter another Gentleman. be able to expresse it. Here comes the Lady Paulina's Steward, hee can deliver you more. How goes it now (Sir.) This Newes (which is call'd true) is so like an old Tale, that the veritie of it is in strong suspicion: Ha's the King found his Heire?

Gent. 3. Most true, if euer Truth were pregnant by Circumstance: That which you heare, you'le sweare you see, there is such vnitie in the proofes. The Mantle of Queene Hermiones: her lewell about the Neck of it: the Letters of Anigenw found with it, which they know to be his Character: the Maiestie of the Creature, in resemblance of the Mother: the Assection of Noblenesse, which Nature shewes about her Breeding, and many other Euidences, proclayme her, with all certaintie, to be the Kings Daughter. Did you see the meeting of the two Kings?

Gent. 3. Then have you lost a Sight which was to bee feene, cannot bee spoken of. There might you have bebeld one loy crowne another, so and in such manner, that it seem'd Sorrow wept to take leave of them: for their loy wanted in testes. There was casting up of Eyes, holding up of Hands, with Countenance of fuch diffraction, that they were to be knowne by Garment, not by Fauor

Our King being ready to leape out of himselse, for joy of his found Daughter; as if that Ioy were now become a Losse, cryes, Oh, thy Mother, thy Mother: then askes Bohemia sorginenesse, then embraces his Sonne-in-Law: then againe worryes he his Daughter, with clipping her. Now he thanks the old Shepheard (which stands by, like a Weather-bitten Conduit, of many Kings Reignes.) I neuer heard of such another Encounter; which lames Report to follow it, and vido's description to doe it.

Gent. 2. What, pray you, became of Antigoniu, that carryed hence the Child?

Gent. 3. Like an old Tale still, which will have matter to rehearse, though Credit be assespe, and not an eare open; he was torne to pieces with a Beare: This auouches the Shepheards Sonne; who has not onely his Innocence (which seemes much) to instiffe him, but a Hand-kerchief and Rings of his, that Paulina knowes.

Gent. 1. What became of his Barke, and his Followers?

Gent 3. Wrackt the same instant of their Masters death, and in the view of the Shepheard: to that all the Instruments which ayded to expose the Child, were even then loft when it was found. But on the Noble Combat, that twixt loy and Soirow was fought in Paulina. Shee had one Eye declin'd for the losse of her Husband, another elevated, that the Oracle was fulfill d: Shee listed the Princesse from the Earth, and so locks her in embracing, as if shee would pin her to her heart, that shee might no more be in danger of loosing.

Gent, 1. The Dignitie of this Act was worth the audience of Kings and Princes, for by such was it acted.

Gent. 3. One of the prettyest touches of all, and that which angl'd for mine Eyes (caught the Water, though not the Fish) was, when at the Relation of the Queenes death (with the manner how shee came to't brauely confess'd, and lamented by the King) how attentiuenesse wounded his Daughter, till (from one signe of dolour to another) shee did (with an Alas) I would saine say, bleed Teares; for I am sure, my heart wept blood. Who was most Marble, there changed colour: some swownded, all sorrowed: if all the World could have seen't, the Woe had beene vniuersall.

Gent. 1. Are they returned to the Court?

Cent. 3. No: The Princesse hearing of her Mothers Statue (which is in the keeping of Paulina) a Peece many yeeres in doing, and now newly perform'd, by that rare Italian Master, Iulio Romano, who (had he himselfe Eternitie, and could put Breath into his Worke) would beguile Nature of her Custome, so perfectly he is her Ape: He so neere to Hermione, hath done Hermione, that they say one would speake to her, and stand in hope of answer. Thither (with all greedinesse of assection) are they gone, and there they intend to Sup.

Gent. 2. I thought she had some great matter there in hand, for shee hath privately, twice or thrice a day, ever since the death of Hermione, visited that removed House. Shall wee thither, and with our companie peece the Reioveing?

Geni. 1. Who would be thence, that ha's the benefit of Accesse? every winke of an Eye, some new Grace will be borne: our Absence makes vs vnthristie to our Knowledge. Let's along.

Exit.

Aut. Now (had I not the dails of my former life in me) would Preferment drop on my head. I brought the old man and his Sonne aboord the Prince; sold him, I heard them talke of a Farthell, and I know not what the he at that time ouer-fond of the Shepheards Daughter (to he then tooke her to be) who began to be much Sea-fick, and himselfe little better, extremnic of Weather continuing, this Mysterie remained undicouer d. But its all one to me: for had I beene the finder-out of this Secret, it would not have relished among my other discredits.

Enter Shepheard and Clowne.

Here come those I have done good to against my will, and alreadic appearing in the blossomes of their Factune.

Shep. Come Boy, I am past moe Children: but thy Sonnes and Daughters will be all Gentlemen borne.

Clow. You are well met (Sir.) you deny'd to fight with mee this other day, because I was no Gentleman borne. See you these Clothes? say you see them not, and thinke me still no Gentleman borne: You were best say these Robes are not Gentlemen boine. Give me the Lye: doe: and try whether I am not now a Gentleman borne.

Aut. I know you are now(Sir)a Gentleman borne.

Clow. I, and have been so any time these toure houres.

Shep. And fo have I, Boy.

Clore. So you have but I was a Gentleman borne before my father: for the Kings Some tooke me by the hand, and call'd mee Brother: and then the two Kings call'd my father Brother: and them the Prince (my Brother) and the Princelle (my Sifter) call' I my father, Father; and so week wept: and there was the first Gentleman-like teares that ever we shed.

Shep. We may live (Sounc) to flied many more.

Clow. 1: or else twere hard lack, being in so preposter rous estate as we are.

Aut. I humbly betreech you (Sir) to pardon me all the faults. I have committed to your Worthip, and to give me your good report to the Prince my Marter.

Shep. Prethee Sonne doe: for we must be gentle, now we are Gentlemen.

Clow. Thou wilt amend thy life?

Ant. I, and it like your good Worship.

Clow. Give me thy hand: I will sweare to the Prince, thou art as honest a true Fellow as any is in Bobemia.

Shep. You may fay it, but not sweare it.

Clow. Not sweare it, now I am a Gentleman? Let Boores and Francklins say it, lie sweare it.

Shep. How it it be falle (Sonne?)

Clow. If it be ne're so false, a true Gentleman may sweare it, in the behalse of his Friend: And Ile sweare to the Prince, thou art a tall Fellow of thy hands, and that thou wilt not be drunke: but I know thou art no tall Fellow of thy hands, and that thou wilt be drunke: but Ile sweare it, and I would thou would'st be a tall Fellow of thy hands.

Aut. I will proue so (Sir) to my power.

Clow. I, by any meanes prone a tall Fellow: if I do not wonder, how thou dar'st venture to be drunke, not being a tall Fellow, trust me not. Harke, the Kings and the Princes (our Kindred) are going to see the Queenes Picture. Come, follow vs: wee'le be thy good Masters. Exempt,

Paul. What

Panl. What (Soueraigne Sir) I did not well, I meant well: all my Seruices You have pay'd home. But that you have vouchfaf'd With your Crown'd Brother, and these your contracted Heires of your Kingdomes) my poore House to visit; k is a surplus of your Grace, which never My life may last to answere.

Leo. O Panlina,

We honor you with trouble: but we came To see the Statue of our Queene. Your Gallerie Haue we pass'd through, not without much content In many lingularities; but we saw not That which my Daughter came to looke vpon, The Statue of her Mother.

Paul. As the liu'd pecrelette, So her dead likenesse I doe weil beleeue Excells what ever yet you look'd vpon, Or hand of Man hath done: therefore I keepe it Louely, apare, But here it is: prepare To fee the Life as lively mock d, as ever Still Sleepe mock'd Death: behold, and fay'tis well-I like your filence, it the more shewes-off Your wonder: but yet speake, first you (my Liege) Comes it not something neere.

Nould I were dead, but that me thinkes alreadie. What was he that did make it?) See (my Lord) Would you not deeme it breath'd and that those veines Did verily beare blood?

Pol. 'Masterly done:

The very Life feemes warme vpon her Lippe. Les. The fixure of her Eye ha's motion in't,

As we are mock'd with Art. Paul. He draw the Curtaine:

My Lord's almost so farre transported, that Hee'le thinke anon it lives.

Leo. Oh sweet Panlina, Make me to thinke so twentie yeeres together: No fetled Sences of the World can match The pleasure of that madnesse. Let't alone.

Paul. I am forry (Sir) I have thus farre ftir'd you: but I could afflict you farther.

Leo. Doe Panlina: or this Affliction ha's a tafte as fweet As any Cordiall comfort. Still me thinkes There is an ayre comes from her. What fine Chizzell Could ever yet cut breath? Let no man mock me, For I will kisse her.

Paul. Good my Lord, forbeare: The ruddinesse vpon her Lippé, is wet: You'le marre it, if you kisse it; stayne your owne With Oyly Painting: shall I draw the Curtaine.

Leo. No: not these twentie yeeres.

Perd. So long could I Stand-by, a looker-on.

Paul. Either forbeare, Quit presently the Chappell, or resolue you For more amazement : if you can behold it, He make the Statue moue indeed; descend, And take you by the hand: but then you'le thinke (Which I protest against) I am assisted By wicked Powers.

Lee. What you can make her doe, I am content to looke on : what to speake, I am content to heare: for tis as easit To make her speake, as moue.

Paul. It is requir'd You doe awake your Faith: then, all fand still: On: those that thinke it is valawfull Bufinesse I am about, let them depart.

Lee. Proceed:

No foot shall stirre.

Paul. Mulick; awake her: Strike: 'Tis time: descend: be Stone no more: approach: Strike all that looke vpon with merusile. Come: He fill your Graue vp: stirre: nay, come away: Bequeath to Death your numneffe: (for from him, Deare Life redeemes you) you perceiue she stirres: Start not: her Actions shall be holy, as ou heare my Spell is lawfull: doe not thun her, Vitill you see her dye againe; for then You kill her double: Nay, prefent your Hand: When the was young, you woo'd her: now, in age, Is the become the Suitor? Lee. Oh she's warme:

If this be Magick, let it be an Art

Lawfull as Eating.

Pol. She embraces him.

Cam. She hangs about his necke, If she pertaine to life, let her speake too.

Pol. I, and make it manifest where she ha's liu'd,

Or how stolne from the dead?

Paul. That she is living, Were it but told you, should be hooted at Like an old Tale : but it appeares the lines, Though yet she speake not. Marke a little while: Please you to interpose (faire Madam) kneese, And pray your Mothers bleffing: turne good Lady, Our Perdit a is found.

Her. You Gods looke downe, And from your facred Viols poure your graces Vpon my drughters head: Tell me (mine owne) Where hast thou bin preseru'd? Where hu'd? How found Thy Fathers Court? For thou shalt heare that I Knowing by Paulina, that the Oracle Gaue hope thou wast in being, have preserved My selfe, to see the y sue.

Paul. There's time enough for that, Leaft they desire (vpon this push) to trouble Your ioyes, with like Relation. Go together You precious winners all: your exultation Partake to every one: I (an old Turtle) Will wing me to some wither'd bough, and there My Mate (that's neuer to be found againe) Lament, till I am lost.

Lee. O peace Paulma: Thou shoulds a husband take by my content, As I by thine a Wife. This is a Match,
And made betweene's by Vowes. Thou haft found mine, But how, is to be question'd: for I saw her (As I thought) dead: and haue (in vaine) faid many Alprayer voon her graue. He not seeke farre (For him, I partly know his minde) to finde thee An honourable husband, Come Camelle, And take her by the hand: whose worth, and honesty Is richly noted: and heere suftified By Vs, a paire of Kings. Let's from this place. What? looke vpon my Brother: both your pardons, That ere I put betweene your holy lookes My ill suspition: This your Son-in-law, And Sonne vnto the King, whom heavens directing Is troth-plight to your daughter. Good Paulma, Leade vs from hence, where we may ley furely Each one demand, and answere to his part Perform'd in this wide gap of Time, fince first We were diffeuer'd: Hattily lead away. Exenut.
